Fuel Assistance programs

Town's 'free cash' at $4.8 million

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Indian summer, a period of warm weather in late autumn after a killing frost, may be gracing the Merrimack Valley this week, but winter's freezing temperatures and icy winds will blow all too soon. For many in the community, winter is cold indoors as well as out, with high fuel costs to heat the home. Selectmen heard from Terri Marciello, Wilmington's Director of Elderly Services, about fuel assistance programs for all ages and income levels as well as other services available to Wilmington senior citizens.

First, Marciello recommended that those in need apply for federal fuel assistance through Community Teamwork. Locally, Terri manages that program for anyone aged 60 and up. Those under age 60 should go through the Veteran's Agent in Billerica, who is coordinating that effort with Community Teamwork; one need not be a Veteran. The program does utilize income thresholds with a single person household needing to make less than $21,126, a two person household with an income under $38,087, or a three person household income of less than $47,049. Further, applicants are

Here comes Sonic

CarHop likely to open this winter

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Put your glad rags on and...hop over to Sonic? Yes the popular carhop fast food restaurant plans to open its second Massachusetts location in Wilmington at 220 Main Street early next year.

Last week the Planning Board approved the plans for a Sonic Drive-In, but with more than 30 conditions the franchise will have to satisfy for the permit.

The project, located on a 2.65-acre parcel, will be sandwiched between the new CVS store and the McDonald's restaurant. The project proposes to remove the existing 4,700 square foot building in the front of the site and replace it with a new 1,728 square foot sonic restaurant.

The restaurant offers no inside seating. Instead, patrons will park in one of the 25 canopy-covered parking spaces and eat in their cars or grab a table on the covered patio. The concept is that customers do not have to wait in busy drive-through lines and can customize their orders myriad ways, then have each order delivered to their car. A drive-through option will also be available for those that want to grab their grub and go.

The Oklahoma based chain is popular in the south, particularly Texas where there are 950 locations, and is known for its made-to-order fast food, carhop service, and even its slow-melting ice (there's even a Facebook fan page).

Sonic opened its first Massachusetts location in Peabody in August. After that, the next closest Sonic is nearly 150 miles away in Kingston, NY.

The Sonic portion of the site will occupy 1.13 acres. Originally the applicant proposed that the existing repair

MOMS Club steps up

Donation to Wilmington Memorial Library provides for two new collections

WILMINGTON - Visitors to the Children's Room at the Wilmington Memorial Library will have two new collections from which choose for their reading and entertainment, thanks to a donation of fifteen hundred dollars from the MOMS Club* of Wilmington.

Bright red zippered bags, each one containing six of the most popular books on a particular theme, will be a boon to busy parents and to preschools and daycare providers, who often plan their activities around a theme.

Seasonal themes include scary stories, going to kindergarten and apples, while the perennial favorites, such as dinosaurs, princesses, trucks, pirates, trains, horses and potty training are covered.

"The MOMS Club of Wilmington is very excited to give this donation to the library for the second year in a row," said MOMS Club

Bond House open for a day

View one of the town's most elegant homes

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - One of the most elegant houses in Wilmington will be open for an open house this weekend.

Built in 1890, it was the home of Arthur Thomas Bond, whose family owned two cracker bakeries in Wilmington in the early and mid-1800's. Arthur Bond was described by a neighbor as one of the finest men ever to walk the streets of Wilmington.

Bond collected a considerable volume of historical material and planned to publish a history of Wilmington. However, the 1906 town meeting declined to fund his project.

He transcribed and typed a copy of the first volume of Wilmington's town records. He performed extensive research at the county Registry of Deeds. In 1904, he published a Souvenir and Guide Book of Wilmington, with pictures of 24 of the oldest houses in town.

Bond also designed the town seal, with the Whitefield Elm in the center. He was the first chairman of the Sarah D. J.

Carter Lecture Committee. His wife Sophia was the founder of the Wilmington Women's Club.

Attorney Paul Emmons, a close friend and neighbor of Bond, wrote that he searched Bond's office after his death and found very little historical material. He speculated that some might have been at Bond's summer home in Wellesley. But Emmons never found the material.

Miraculously, Bond's collection remained intact. Some 60 years after his death, four boxes were found in the attic of a home in New Hampshire by an antique dealer. The

by Joyce Brisbois

INHERITED AN IRA? KEEP IT GROWING!

If you are the beneficiary of an IRA, you could take out all the money at once and pay huge taxes. Or, much better, you could keep the money growing for years and pay less taxes on it. Your choice.

Best bet, usually, is to set up an "inherited IRA beneficiary account," also known as a "stretch IRA," permitting the heir to take annual distributions on his own life expectancy. If there are multiple beneficiaries, then new, properly titled accounts must be established. Surviving spouses, though, can roll over assets into their own IRAs or even disclaim all or part of it. Always get a direct trustee-to-trustee transfer.

Roth IRAs remain tax-free to heirs, but beneficiaries will have to take minimum required distributions each year.

Important: an IRA's beneficiary designation outranks a will. Keep designations up to date. If there is no spouse or beneficiary form, the money goes to the estate and might be taxed right away.

Let us help you make the most of what you've got. Get good advice from the professionals at 120 years ago.

Arthur T. Bond was tied into Wilmington history from birth. His great-grandfather, Joseph Bond, was a baker in Washington's Continental Army during the Revolutionary War. After the war, he came to Wilmington and established a bakery. It was quite successful. Eventually, a second bakery was built, and the Bond biscuits were sold all around New England.

Bond crackers put Wilmington on the map.

Joseph Bond, Jr., had twin sons, Thomas Davis Bond and Timothy Davis Bond, each of whom owned one bakery. Thomas married Olive Thompson. They lived in the house on Middlesex Avenue on the left corner of Wildwood Street, and it was there that Arthur was born on July 16, 1852. Two years later, Thomas built the house that is now the St. Thomas Rectory, and he donated his old house to the Congregational Church as a parsonage.

Thomas' bakery was to the left of the parsonage. Timothy's bakery was located where the Baptist school is today. Both bakeries burned in February 1864, and a spark set the Congregational Church afire, too.

Arthur Bond grew up in the elegant house that is now the Rectory. When he reached college age, the Congregational minister, Rev. Samuel Tolman, took him to the Williams College. The minister scheduled a funeral for morning, so that he could leave for Williamstown in the afternoon. Arthur was admitted to Williams, but never graduated. He later joked about two students being expelled for putting jalap, a laxative, in the communion wine. Arthur never admitted to being the one who placed the jalap, but it would not be much of a stretch to make that assumption.

Arthur worked for his father's bakery as a cracker salesman for a few years and then entered the advertising business. He eventually formed his own agency, Bond of Boston. He was quite successful.

"He had the vital spark of a rugged individualism," Emmons wrote of his former neighbor. "He hid an amazing amount of muscular strength beneath a gentle exterior, and also had a very keen sense of humor."

He married Minnie Dorr of Medford in 1875, and they had one daughter. That marriage did not last. After the divorce, the daughter stayed with her mother.

In 1887, he married Sophia Frances Hamblen. They remained together for nearly 50 years, a happy but childless marriage.

In 1890, they had a magnificent home built on land from the Blanchard estate, at the corner of Salem Street and Middlesex Avenue. The architect was Frank L. Smith of Boston.

After the rejection at 1906 town meeting for his proposal to write the town history, Bond then lost an election for office in the Masonic lodge. He did not take these defeats well, and left town, vowing never to return. Emmons wrote that fortunately, that did not hold true. But the Bonds moved to Wakefield. They lived out their years there, with a summer home in Wellesley and an apartment at a Boston hotel. They died about 1935.

Their entire estate was left to Sophia's two nieces in New York City. Emmons wrote that these two women were friends of Katherine Hepburn, who visited the Bonds. Since she was born in 1907, it is doubtful that those visits were to the home in Wilmington.

Arthur Bond's daughter contested the will and told her son that if he could win the case, the $50,000 inheritance would be his. He was offered $5,000, but chose to take the case to court. He lost, and received nothing.

The house in North Wilmington was for many years the home of Philip Buzzell, who was town counsel for nearly 50 years. More recently, it was the home of Larry Doucette.

Realtor Bill Wolfe recently undertook a restoration of the Bond house. He said that he has been in hundreds of houses in Wilmington, and has never seen anything like this house.

Bill & Betty Wolfe are hosting an open house on Sunday to anyone who might like to view the house in its restored state. The house is going on the market, but this open house is to let residents view one of Wilmington's historic treasurers.

Stepping the front door of the Bond house one encounters one of the fireplaces with a stairway winding around it leading to the hallway upstairs.

A few thoughts on Veterans Day

By Louis Cimaglia, IV
Wilmington Veterans Agent

We observe Veterans Day on an anniversary - not of a great battle or of the beginning of a war, but of a day when war ended and our nation was again at peace. Ever since the Armistice of November the 11th, 1918, this has been a day to remember our debt to all who have worn the uniform of the United States.

On this, our ninth Veterans Day since the attacks on September 11th, let us take a moment to remember those, past and present, who have served our nation in uniform.

This Veterans Day is especially poignant given the atrocity that took place at Fort Hood, where those who stepped forward to serve were cut down as they were preparing to deploy. The thoughts and prayers of the entire country are with the wounded and the families of the fallen.

We as Americans owe a great debt to those families, and to all the families, that have lost a loved one in service to our country - a debt we can never repay.

Whether a veteran served in peacetime, or a time of war, we owe them. Everyone who wore the uniform of our nation knew they could be sent into harm's way, and I thank them for that. Veterans serve with pride, honor and dignity. They not only serve for their families and each other, they serve for their country - a country they are willing to die for, and many have. I can think of no more noble title than an "American Soldier."

Today and every day, the prayers of the American people are with those who wear our country's uniform. They serve a great cause and they follow a great tradition, handed down to them by America's veterans.

Our veterans from every era are the finest of citizens. We owe them the life we know today; they have our lasting gratitude.

To all our veterans - past and present - and your families, I salute you and thank you for your service.

Successful golf tournament

Letter to the Editor:

We would like to thank the many local businesses and organizations that so generously donated or participated in the Wilmington School Business Partnership's Annual Golf Tournament, held at the Hillview Country Club in North Reading on Monday, September 28.

This major fund raiser enables us to fulfill our mission - to provide the students of the Wilmington School system the opportunity to maximize their educational experience with the assistance available through the cooperative commitment of business people and educators sharing knowledge, experience and resources. The monies from the golf tournament will fund our Innovative Teacher Awards, School-to-Career Programs, support the high school's DECA Program and high school scholarships, among others.

We'd like to recognize the players who were extremely generous in purchasing raffle tickets and auction items and to all who made our event a success, coming out on a perfect day and showing their support, enjoying each others' camaraderie and making a difference in providing our students with opportunities they might not otherwise have.

Thanks to Analog Devices, Center Harbor Inn, Champion's Choice, Cooke's Skate Shop, D&D Lock, Danvers Bank, Fantastic Sam's, Focaccia's Ristorante, Grateful Spirit Massage, Hillview Country Club (Chris Carter), La Chic Nails & Spa, Lowell Spinners (Jon Boswell), Kristin Blum, Muzz Clothing, Peter McGinn, Ninety Nine Restaurant, Reading Municipal Light Department, Rocco's Restaurant, Rydell, Shawshen Tech, Sports Hypnosis (Ted Benson), Staples, Wilmington Insurance.

Thank you also to the Wilmington High Golf Team whose golfers were strategically placed on the course and helped raise funds by taking shots for golfers at designated holes. Coach Steve Lynch played in one of the foursomes.

Very truly yours,

What's Cooking?

by Paula Murphy

I think I told you before about my mother's sweet tooth. I started baking because we were always rushing out to buy more baked goods, and still couldn't keep up. Now that it gets dark earlier, Mom is looking for supper at 4:00 p.m., and I've been baking fruit and nut breads to tide her over. With a cup of tea and a smear of cream cheese, they're substantial enough to satisfy, and not so sweet that I worry about sending her into sugar shock. And they're easy to make!

I'm still looking for stuffing and holiday side dish recipes. Please send them to paula.wilmingtoncooks@hotmail.com.

Aloha Bread

1 1/2 cups vegetable oil
3 large eggs

During the first Persian Gulf War I was a teen in Bangor, Maine. I remember watching CNN the night of the first Baghdad bombings with Bernard Shaw, Peter Arnett and John Holliman broadcasting from the 9th floor of a downtown hotel while tracer fire lit the sky. Not long afterwards the troop movements began to take our soldiers off to war.

Unlike today, that war was over relatively quickly and our soldiers came home again, many through Maine's not-so-little airport in the frosty north. With a two-mile runway on this former Air Force base, BIA is often used by airlines carrying troops, emergency diversions, and unruly passengers. NASA designated it as an alternate runway for the Space Shuttle and even Air Force One graced this snowy outpost a number of times over the years.

Back then the last major conflict the U.S. had engaged in was the Vietnam War, after which our returning soldiers were treated badly upon their return. In Bangor, no one wanted to see that happen

4 mashed over-ripe bananas
1 8-ounce can of crushed pineapple
3 cups flour
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup coconut
1 cup chopped macadamia nuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees, and grease and flour two 9"x5" loaf pans. In a large bowl, beat oil and eggs with electric mixer at medium speed. Beat in pineapple, banana, and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients except coconut and nuts, and add to banana mixture. Stir in coconut and nuts. Bake for 50 minutes, or until a knife inserted into loaf comes out clean.

Date-Nut Bread

1 large package pitted dates, chopped
2 cups boiling water
1 stick margarine, softened
2 eggs
2 cups sugar
4 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking soda
1 cup walnuts, chopped
2 teaspoons vanilla

Preheat oven to 325 degrees, and grease or spray a 9"x5" loaf pan. Pour boiling water over the chopped dates, add baking soda, stir, and let sit until lukewarm. Stir in by hand margarine and sugar, and mix well. Add flour and mix well. Add eggs, walnuts and vanilla. Blend 5 minutes with electric mixer. Bake for 1 hour, or until a knife inserted in loaf comes out clean.

Lemon Loaf Bread

1/4 stick margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 lemon rind, grated
1/2 cup nuts
1/3 cup sugar
juice of 1 lemon

Preheat oven to 350 degrees, and grease a 9"x5" loaf pan. Cream together margarine and 1 cup sugar. Add eggs. Add milk alternately with flour, salt, and baking powder. Add lemon rind and nuts. Bake for 1 hour. Leave in pan for 10 minutes then pour 1/3 cup of sugar dissolved in the juice of one lemon over loaf. Let set for 1/2 hour and remove from pan.

Fortnight in Review

by Jayne W. Miller

again.

So, some people got together to arrange a sort of welcome home committee, an ad hoc arrangement complete with music (live and DJ), applause, tears and hugs. Sometimes we gathered quarters and calling cards for the pay phones (remember those?) so that the troops could call their families; tell them they stand again on U.S. soil.

Usually the soldiers, tired after a long flight, were only told that a group of people was waiting to see them. Thin, rugged, strong, tired, these soldiers came down the ramp and looked so surprised and thrilled at the applause, the cheering, and the loud music at some unholy early morning hour. Most of those flights were met by thronging crowds.

For an hour or so those heroic men and women belonged to Bangor and we belonged to them. They were members of our extended family, receiving a warm embrace in a cold winter, or a cold beer after a hot, dry desert.

Wednesday night, too late for most who will read this paper, PBS airs a film about today's troop greeters titled The Way We Get By. The movie highlights the lives of three of Bangor's senior citizens who become dedicated to meeting the troops returning home from Iraq and Afghanistan - any time of the day in any weather.

The film also chronicles the lives of two men and one woman, when they are not at the airport greeting troops. We find that they are ordinary people, like us, imperfect bodies with health and financial problems; made remarkable not by their reflection or a label but by the choice of how they spend their time.

The most precious thing any of us has is time, not money or celebrity or skills or friends, which are fleeting, sometimes fickle, temporary things. None of us knows when our time is up, what time will tell for us, or who will come along in our time with a lesson. We have to listen to those around us for their wisdoms and their beauty and their heart, but we have to dig a little deeper sometimes to get there.

Veteran's Day is a day to honor our soldiers who put their country, their fellow citizen's freedoms, before their own. Each one made remarkable by how he or she chose to spend time in service to our country.

I encourage us all to find that opportunity around us to dig a little deeper and give back in some way to our community, in whatever way that suits you and brings you joy or contentment. Already Tewksbury, like Bangor, celebrates volunteerism and community service with so many people generously giving of that most precious resource, time. It is one of those community ethics that resonated with my family, making us want to move here in the first place.

Above all, to our Veterans near and far, at home and abroad, thank you for your service to our country, thank you for being willing to make the ultimate sacrifice.

Letter to the editor

Full-time commitment

To the Concerned Parents, the School Committee Members, and All Citizens of the Tewksbury Community, Amidst the rush of the first eight weeks of school, we sit and we breathe, and we share our hopes, frustrations, challenges, and goals that are common to all teaching professionals. The discussions always circle back to our primary focus, the children...your children. These are the children who sit in front of us for academic instruction throughout the day. In addition to all of the academic expectations, both the children and their parents look to us for comfort, guidance, emotional support, and to model lessons in respect, responsibility, and compassion. The weight of these responsibilities are carried home with us in our tote bags, in our minds, and in our hearts - as our work is the living, breathing future of this country. Although the children's day ends at a specific time, the clocks on our classroom walls do not dictate nor confine our commitment and the work that we do. We would like to reassure all of you that despite recent decisions made and implemented beyond our control, our focus remains where it always has, on your children. Despite the fact that we have been placed on part-time status, our instructional time and our commitment to the success of our students continues to be in full-time status mode. We appreciate the support from the many families that we partner with and rely on as extensions of what we do. We ask that you please keep in mind that even though we are not in front of your children for that "extra hour" at this time, we are ALWAYS behind them. We would like to share some words with you that remind us that it is the "home and school" connection that truly leads our children to success.

Two Sculptors

I dreamed I stood in a studio and watched two sculptors there. The clay they used was a young child's mind, and they fashioned it with care.

One was a teacher; the tools she used were books, music and art. One, was a parent who worked with a guiding hand and a loving heart. Day after day the teacher toiled with touch that was deft and sure. While the parent labored by her side, And polished and smoothed it over. And when at last their task was done, they were proud of what they'd wrought; For the things they had molded into the child could neither be sold nor bought. And each agreed he would have failed if he had worked alone. For behind the teacher stood the school, And behind the parent, the home. Author unknown

Letters to the editor

WYSA grateful for efforts

Dear Editor,
The WYSA Board of Directors would like to respond to a recent letter to the editor by Mr. Jack Cushing of the Wilmington Parks and Grounds Department by stating that we completely agree with Mr. Cushing's assessment of the playing conditions of the Shawsheen Fields and the reason behind these conditions. WYSA would like to further state that it is very appreciative of all the efforts that Mr. Cushing and all the other employees of the Parks and Grounds Department perform to maintain not only Shawsheen but all the open space and parks within our community. WYSA is committed to assist the town in any number of measures that may be under consideration and is willing to discuss any and all possible solutions to the field space issue within Wilmington.

WYSA looks at its relationship with the town departments as a partnership whose common goal is to provide the children of Wilmington an enjoyable, fun and safe outdoor athletic activity.

WYSA has and will continue to maintain an open line of communication with the town departments and is eager to participate in whatever forum that is proposed that will result in improved and safer playing conditions for all.

Thank you,
John Donahue

Caring, committed teachers

Dear Editor,
During these trying times in public education, it is important to know that the educators in the town of Tewksbury continue to be a group of caring, committed teachers. Many of us are residents of Tewksbury whose children attend Tewksbury Public Schools. We appreciate our hard-working colleagues who provide a quality education and understand the value of first-rate schools to a community. Frequently, the first question from potential home buyers is, "How are the schools?" We, as teachers at the Dewing School, connect with that community and work tirelessly to provide a first-rate education to these children. Some of the things we do beyond our job description in the interest of our students and the community includes:

- inviting parents and/or family members to read stories and/or share special hobbies, jobs or travel experiences
- attending PAC sponsored events in our free time (Ice Cream Socials, Pizza Parties, Reading Marathon activities)
- supporting students in times of need (attending wakes and funerals, passing on children's outgrown clothing, supporting neighborhood lemonade stands)

• creating memories for students and parents through many performances - costuming, choreographing, rehearsing

• supporting local charities - providing Christmas gifts for children at the Department of Social Services through the Giving Tree program, donating to local charities (Sun Santa, Tewksbury Food Pantry) in lieu of student Christmas gift exchanges

• communicating with families by calling/e mailing from home, conferencing before school, writing classroom newsletters

• serving as a Destination Imagination appraiser on the weekend

• spending two to three hours beyond the school day to plan and prepare lessons, correct papers, and coordinate book orders

• enriching the curriculum by developing, organizing and implementing field trips

• personally purchasing books for classroom libraries and rewards and incentives for positive behavior systems

In addition to performing the job of teaching children at the Dewing School, we seek to make each child feel special and demonstrate a community spirit.

Recycling paying off

Dear Editor,
Yesterday was a great day for this member of Tewksbury's Recycling Committee.

Whenever I'm around the intersection of Main and Chandler Streets I stop by the library to pick up whatever people have left for me to recycle.

If somebody is nearby, I'll often ask, "Have you noticed the Recycling Committee's Information Station?"

The man using the copier surprised me with his enthusiasm for the automated trash system. He told me that since July 1, he has been paying closer attention to what he throws away and discovered that he used to put many recyclables in the trash. Not any more. His family now puts out only one bag of trash in their toter. Everything else gets recycled. He told me that everyone should recycle and pay closer attention to what they throw away. I replied that what he said was among the reasons the town and Allied Waste offered only one toter per household.

While he and I were chatting, a woman joined our conversation. She, too, was enthusiastic about the new trash collection system and recycling. After a few minutes, she revealed that she was in that corner of the library looking for a place to recycle batteries. I told her that I'm Tewksbury's "Battery Person" and I'd be happy to take whatever she had.

The three of us talked about recycling a while longer before leaving.

I left the library feeling elated by those two wonderful people, who made me feel that the efforts of the Recycling Committee are paying off in terms of recycling more and reducing solid waste disposal.

That's always been the primary goal of the Recycling Committee.

Thank you to everyone who helps the town and the Recycling Committee reach our goal.

And a special "Thank You" to the two people in the library who made yesterday a great day for me.

Yours truly,
Jae Gray

Cloud of confusion

Dear Editor,

As a 2nd year teacher at the L.F. Dewing in Tewksbury, I am thankful for the warmth and guidance my fellow teachers and school administrators have shown me. I appreciate the camaraderie among staff and P.A.C. members as we approach each day with enthusiasm and vigor, despite limited resources, and always the feeling of limited time with much to do. Each day, I feel proud to be a part of the Dewing community.

However, as of lately, my feeling of pride has a "cloud of confusion" added to it. This "cloud" is due to comments made by school committee members that are then printed in local area newspaper articles.

It seems that "we" (the teachers in Tewksbury) have somehow become the "bad" guys. I am indeed confused. We took a 5% pay cut, but still we seem to be in the "wrong" somehow. I don't get it. Isn't the collective job of the school committee and the staff to work together for the benefit of our students? I thought we were all on the same side. When did it become a "them" against "us" thing?

Each day I see the women and men at the L.F. Dewing School speaking kindly to students, smiling at them, giving them a pat on the shoulder -- lots of high fives. (I am sure the same happens throughout the other Tewksbury schools as well.) I am aware of phone calls made to parents who are grieving due to a loss * or are facing a personal challenge * and the life of their Dewing student is impacted. I see teachers hanging up personal items to brighten classrooms, chatting in the hallways about ways to bring technology into classrooms, and sharing ideas regarding celebration of special days.

Most recently, I attended an after-school Math SARC meeting. Extra chairs were brought into the cramped conference room to provide seating for the many teachers in attendance to help investigate new math resources for our students.

I am happy to be back teaching in Tewksbury this year, despite this "cloud" that has arisen. I am proud to be a part of the Dewing community. It is clear that "all" - school staff and school committee members alike - have the best interest of our students at heart. So let's show our unification by standing "together" for the sake of our students.

Wilmington

Dear Town Crier,
I loved your article: Girl Scouts Offer Hand to Senior Center! And all my friends in Town love it too! I look forward to reading more articles by your talented new writer, Dan Chalmers.

Wilmington

George, your most recent ranting in last week's Town Crier just re-enforces the point why you can't get appointed to any local boards and why you were not elected to the Board of Selectman in 2006. You talk about a smear campaign against you in 2006, well what is fair is fair, especially when all you do is complain about everyone else, especially the Town Manager as you did when running for the board of selectmen. Why must you continue to bash other people for stepping out to try to bring a new perspective whether it be at a local or state level. Mr. Sears was right in his article last week the "Old" republican guard does eat its own and is afraid of the new and the "young." Show some class and represent your party in a positive light. By the way, the school committee seats were not the only uncontested seats in the April town election, there was also an uncontested seat for the Board of Selectman, or did you forget?

Congregational Church Fair

WILMINGTON - On Saturday, November 14, from the hours of 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., the Congregational Church in Wilmington will be hosting its annual Fall Holiday Fair. The Church has held this fair almost every year for over one hundred years. But this is a modern fair. All the crafts and other items for sale have been lovingly handmade by members of the Church.

Some of the items featured for sale will be needlework, jewelry, plants, holiday decorations and a country store. Once again baskets, a perennial favorite, will be available for sale. These are gift baskets packed with items for everyone you can think of: teens, new moms, or whatever. They are all beautifully put together ready to gift a loved one.

Again, the fair will feature a Children's Store. This is an area where only children are allowed. The items for sale in this area are things that children can buy to give as gifts to their parents, etc., or for themselves. Everything in this room is priced for a child's budget.

The country store will again feature home baked beans, cheese, potato salad and cole slaw along with baked goods of every description.

The luncheon will again feature Bob's chili served with corn muffins, corn chowder sausage subs, tuna and egg salad rolls. For dessert, here will be homemade pies, similar to the ones on the baked table of the country store.

And don't forget the "white elephant" room. This is where the attic treasures for everyone can be found very inexpensively.

There will also be a silent auction where more expensive items and gift certificates from local merchants will be available for bid.

If you only get to one fair this fall, this is the one. But hopefully, you'll get to several and you will see that this is the best. Don't miss it.

The Congregational Church in Wilmington is located at 220 Middlesex Ave. (Route 62) in Wilmington (978-658-2264).

Richard J. Pozzi, Sr.

48 years a teacher at Eastern Junior High and Marshall Middle School in Lynn

WILMINGTON - Mr. Richard J. Pozzi, Sr., age 70, a resident of Wilmington since 1969, died Monday, November 9, 2009, at home with his family at his side. Born October 12, 1939, in Boston, MA, Richard was the dear son of Josephine (Syracuse) and Giulio Pozzi of Reading. Richard grew up in Boston and was educated there, he graduated from Boston Technical High School in 1957 and Boston State College in 1961 earning his Bachelors Degree in Education.

Following his graduation from College, Richard enlisted in the United States Army in May of 1962 during the Vietnam War. He served the country honorably and was discharged from the Army National Guard in April of 1968.

At the time of his death, Richard was currently teaching Technology Education at Eastern Junior High and Marshall Middle School in Lynn. Richard loved teaching, he was an educator for over 48 years and was forever devoted to his students. He passed on his many talents as a woodworker to them, befriended those students in need, and enjoyed their successes.

Richard was also a member of T.E.A.M. - Technology Education Association of Massachusetts.

In his spare time, Richard enjoyed going to New Hampshire and being at the ocean. Richard loved spending time with his children and grandchildren and looked forward to the many family cookouts they shared.

Wilmington Garden Club launches new website

WILMINGTON - Wilmington Garden Club has finally reached the digital age! This month the local garden club will launch its brand new website. The goal of the club's website is to make more of an outreach to the community.

Said Jennifer Stokes, Garden Club President, "The garden club is part of the community. In this era where people are in a two income household, time to themselves is at a premium. The demands of family take a toll on that, too. By putting ourselves out on the web, we can show that our programs can be on anyone's terms. We have plenty of members who are not able to come every month, but still participate in different ways."

When asked how someone can participate Jennifer replied, "We have troughs and barrels all over town that can be tended to and watered, we have our Garden Therapy at two local nursing homes, annual plant sales. Volunteers are always welcome. We would love to have someone head up a youth committee that would teach gardening at the schools in the after school programs. Or even update the gardens at the schools. There are endless possibilities. And I am always open and excited to hear new ones."

The garden club looks for exciting and educational ways to increase its membership. Its members are always looking for new ideas to help keep the community beautiful.

The Garden Club meets the second Thursday of each month at the Fourth of July building at 7:30 p.m. For more information regarding membership, monthly programs and community involvement, check out the Wilmington Garden Club's new website at www.wilmingtonmagardenclub.org.

Letters to the editor

Checked swing and a miss!

Dear Editor,

First off, I would like to thank all of our Veterans who have worked so hard to maintain our freedom. Please keep the soldiers at Fort Hood in your prayers. The terrible tragedy that just occurred in Texas is a somber reminder of the dangers these brave men and women face each day.

On Tuesday November 4th, Massachusetts House State Legislators approved House Bill number 4310 that provides new legislation giving returning veterans from overseas missions an additional $500 per tour of duty in addition to the one-time bonus of $1,000 with the caveat; "provided, however, that appropriated funding is available and the state treasurer certifies that the relevant account has sufficient funds to maintain such an initiative." Sponsors of the legislation have stated that this will be at no cost to the taxpayer because this legislation will be funded from current reserves that have not been utilized by returning veterans, but what will happen when the funding runs out?

While this legislation sounds good in principle to our veterans today, what about our future veterans? Why the need to add the wording "that appropriated funding is available?" Do our legislators believe in this legislation or not, if they did then they would have made sure that the funding would be there when it is so desperately needed by our Veterans! And what about all the new nursing homes for our veterans that this bill also provides for, where is the money going to come from to build new facilities?

Also missing from this bill is funding for the Holyoke Soldiers' Home and the Chelsea Soldiers' Home, which provide outpatient services to about 12,000 Massachusetts veterans each year. Last week Governor Patrick cut the Holyoke facility's budget by $894,404 and Chelsea's by $1,061,288, and cut backs from last year forced both soldiers' homes to eliminate dental services. The most recent 9C cuts will only make it harder for our most vulnerable veterans. The bill does have a bright spot, it provides special status to businesses owned and operated by disabled veterans, similar to that of a Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) giving disabled veterans better opportunities to bid on state contracts.

During this somber and special time for our veterans, one legislator was quoted as saying "Veterans Day is right around the corner and we need to remind people of the sacrifice these people make." If this law is so important, why did you wait until the end of the year to pass this law? Taking advantage of the fact Veteran's Day is right around the corner and using it as political cover is a disgrace. It's nice to know our State Legislators are working so hard for the Veterans of Massachusetts, can anyone say "it's all smoke and mirrors?"

Do the veterans deserve a break...absolutely! It is just sad to see the Democratic Legislature pass something that has little chance of being funded in the future. The road to disaster is often paved with good intentions. With fiscal restraint and a better plan, we will be able to guarantee these benefits for our veterans for many years to come, but until then it's all a coin toss.

Great things about Wilmington

Dear Editor,

Wilmington has recently become a place with some bad press and pettiness. I would like to take this opportunity to remind people of some of the great things about Wilmington. A top notch Recreation department with something for everyone. Friends of the Library with enough support to keep a book store up and running. School PAC's which support their students year after year. A 4th of July committee that can't be beat. A Senior Center keeping the elderly young. A community Fund, helping those in need. Support for Veteran's and their families through several organizations. Many social organizations all doing their part to make Wilmington a better community. Friends, neighbors and strangers that come out by the droves when asked for some support. These are all great things about Wilmington. We have kids playing Town sports in many different venues, including Pop Warner. We've had some great experiences and some that we just had to get through and learn from. We try to remind our kids and ourselves that the coaches are all volunteers and doing the best they can. These volunteers sometimes make bad decisions and some times have bad days, just like the parents and kids do. Nothing in life is perfect or always easy, some things are hard and have to be worked through. But, next time we are confronted with someone making a bad decision or having a bad day, maybe we can put a smile on our face and walk away knowing that just around the corner is someone who will smile back.

continue over a more extended period of time. An appointment is made by calling (978) 658-9889. Information will be obtained over the telephone and an appointment scheduled as soon as possible. Marcou in Hawaii to assist in state Baby Safe Haven awareness campaign kick off Wilmington's Renee Marcou and Representative John Mizuno at KHVH in Honolulu helping to kick-off Baby Safe Haven awareness campaign.

HONOLULU, HI - Rep. John Mizuno and Sen. Suzanne Chun Oakland of the Hawaii State Legislature's Keiki Caucus hosted a reception and luncheon to honor and recognize Hawaii's 2009 Outstanding Advocates for Children and Youth. Governor Linda Lingle joined Rep. Mizuno & Sen. Chun Oakland to recognize the Outstanding Advocates for Children and Youth.

These outstanding individuals, organizations and businesses have demonstrated notable achievements in children and youth advocacy during the past years.

"This event provides our state an opportunity to recognize the great accomplishments of advocates who have truly made a meaningful and positive impact on children and youth. Their accomplishments will certainly serve as shining examples for others to follow and will resonate the critical importance we place on our Keiki," said Representative John Mizuno.

2009 Outstanding Advocates for Children and Youth Recipients included Jean and Michael Morrisey, who traveled to Honolulu to receive their award, and brought their spokesperson Renee Marcou to assist in the beginning of an awareness campaign for Hawaii modeled after the one in New England.

After the discovery of an abandoned baby girl in a Boston cemetery, the Morriseys worked to pass legislation to legally allow newborns to be saved from abandonment in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont. Jean and Michael came to Hawaii in 2007 and provided critical help making Hawaii the 48th State to enact a Baby Safe Haven Law. Today all 50 states have Baby Safe Haven laws.

Jean and Michael Morrisey started Baby Safe Haven New England in 2005 and have provided valuable assistance to many states in low cost to no cost public awareness campaigns for Baby Safe Haven laws. The most successful campaign has been the collaboration with singer/performer Renee Marcou of Wilmington, MA. Renee has become the spokesperson for Baby Safe Haven New England and has made several dozen radio and TV appearances talking to her peers about Baby Safe Haven laws, hotlines and information web sites.

The radio tour and public appearances by Renee Marcou has helped to lead Massachusetts to a 34-month period without a deadly newborn abandonment, a record not seen before in the Commonwealth. Massachusetts had two to three abandonments per year prior to passage of the Baby Safe Haven law in 2004, with half of the abandonments previously resulting in the death of the newborn.

Renee Marcou sang before the gathering at the Governor's Mansion at Washington Place as part of the kick off of the collaborated Baby Safe Haven awareness efforts. Her performance led to an invitation to return for the Children and Youth Day celebration in 2010, attended by over 30,000 young people from the Hawaiian Islands.

Representative Mizuno and Renee Marcou appeared on the Mike Buck Show on KHVH radio in Honolulu on Monday, November 2, 2009 to begin a radio campaign for the State of Hawaii.

The Snooti Patooti and Upscale Consignment Boutiques' "One Year Anniversary Celebration" is still in the planning stages. However, it is hoped that we will have information available next week. Mark the date: Monday, December 14th. One will surely not want to miss this event.

Once again, people are cautioned against giving personal information over the telephone or internet. REMEMBER, you did not make the call. There are many scams taking place lately; and, many people have been victimized. Just recently, I received a call regarding a loan that was default. The call got me wondering but then I don't have any loans except with my local bank. The recorded call directed me to call a certain number and mention a code. Needless to say, I did not respond. I also received a call from an insurance company wanting to sell medical coverage insurance. It was a one day deal and could be purchased via one's credit card or bank.

All one has to do is hang up. Such calls are infringing on your privacy. If one gets such a call or one has been victimized, contact your local police department as well as the Attorney General's Office of Public Inquiry & Assistance Center Hotline, call (617) 727-8400.

Have a great week. God Bless America.

Book Discussion for Ages 9 & Older

Lost and Found by Andrew Clements

Friday, Nov. 13, 3:30 pm
In Lost and Found by Andrew Clements, twelve-year-old identical twins Jay and Ray have long resented that everyone treats them as one person, and so they hatch a plot to take advantage of a clerical error at their new school and pretend that they are just one. Drop-in for the informal discussion. Copies of the book may be reserved by visiting or calling the Children's Room. A door prize and snack will be provided by the Friends of the Library.

Fuel Assistance

asked to bring items that prove monthly income, checking account statements, mortgage statements - where applicable, and bills.

Marciello told Selectmen that 65 people have already signed up for the program, which approves a participant for a specific dollar figure for the winter, which varies from person to person.

Another advantage of the program has the funds going directly to a participating fuel company (oil, propane, gas, even wood) rather than through each senior's own checkbook, making it one less thing to deal with. The program runs to April.

Those who do not qualify for the federal fuel assistance can then apply for the Good Neighbor Fund, again, only if they have filed previously with Community Teamwork. The program gives $300 to families in need and is a good back up option.

Marciello also mentioned Joe Kennedy's Citizens Energy, which does not require a previous application to the federal fuel assistance program, and which begins in mid-December. It is a simple, one page application, and offers a one-time only service.

"Our department will help them [residents] in any way possible," said Marciello, who has seen an increase in the number of new faces coming in for assistance. "It is a completely confidential program. Times are tough for everybody."

Senior Services:

Marciello also presented the FY2009 summary service report for the town from Minuteman Senior Services, which is a local nonprofit organization that helps find practical solutions to long term care issues. The organization offers diverse services including Care Management and Home Care Services, Information and Referrals, Meals on Wheels, Long Term Care Ombudsman, SHINE Health Benefits Counseling, adult Protective Services, and many more.

According to the report, in FY09 1,290 residents used Minuteman's services valued at $718,141. For FY10, the town's assessment is $3,351, making this service a good value for taxpayers. Those interested in the services should contact Marciello at the Department of Elderly Services (978-657-7595) for more information about services provided and transportation.

Budget Update:

Town Manager Michael Cairra informed Selectmen during Monday's meeting that the town's free cash certification came in at $4,821,738, slightly higher than last year's $4,775,044.

"I am pleased to report these numbers to the board," said Cairra. "We do have other reserves, in the water fund or the health insurance accounts, but this is the primary reserve for the town."

At $4.8 million, on a $77.5 million budget, the free cash reserves represent nearly 6.25 percent.

The free cash is important because the Governor's budget cuts due to declining first quarter revenues and a $686 million shortfall will cost Wilmington $1,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

"We are bracing ourselves that we will not see further cuts," cautioned Cairra.

The Governor has stated that he will not cut Chapter 70 funding for towns and school or any major municipal aid accounts.

MOMS Club steps up

member Jo Newhouse. "The new library collections purchased this year for the children look wonderful and we hope all children in our community find them beneficial and enjoyable."

A listing of themed kits available through the library may be viewed by searching the online catalog at www.wilmlibrary.org. Click on "Library Catalog" and enter "kit" as a general keyword search term. Many of the kits in the resulting list may be reserved for your pickup at the Wilmington library or at member libraries. To view Wilmington's kits click on "Wilmington" in the "Limit by" box near the top of the page. Once home with your kit, you'll be ready for your own story time.

A startup collection of computer software and video games for children is sure to be another popular reason to make your visit to the Children's Room. Award-winning interactive software include those recommended on the American Library Association's website (www.ala.org/alsc) by the Association for Library Services to Children and Parents' Choice Foundation (www.parents-choice.org).

Software titles donated by the MOMS Club* include Reader Rabbit Learn to Read with Phonics, Caillou: Ready to Read, Neuromatrix, Nancy Drew: The Haunting of Castle Malloy, Mavis Beacon Teaches Typing, American Girl: Mia Goes for Great, Itzabita, Pet Pals: New Leash on Life, Art Studio: Draw and Paint with Digital Tools, Mia Reading and Crazy Machines.

To search the online catalog for software or Wii, use the subject keyword box and enter "software" or "Wii". Software and Wii may also be reserved.

"The MOMS Club fundraises throughout the year to give back to our local community. We are always looking with in our community to give back and see where we can make a difference for our children and have found this donation to the library's children's room a great way to do so," said Newhouse. "We certainly hope to be able to continue the support of the library in years to come. This past year we have also supported the Wilmington Community Fund Adopt-a-Family program during the holiday season, Wilmington Education Foundation, Wilmington Police and Fire departments, and Wilmington Food Pantry."

The Children's Room staff plans to build on this initiative of the MOMS Club* to promote literacy and library use by continuing to grow these two new collections. For more information about the collections contact Susan MacDonald, Children's Librarian at (978) 694-2098 or email smacdonald@mvlc.org.

facility at the rear of the site would remain for another user for the purpose of car sales, but condition 30, falling under 'Prior to Occupancy' states that the applicant "will be responsible for demolition and proper disposal of the existing repair facility at the rear of the site."

At the request of local officials the site design will include an internal connection to the CVS and Wilmington plaza allowing traffic to connect to a signaled intersection, and will therefore restrict left hand turns onto Main Street. The primary egress from the restaurant property will only allow right hand turns on Main Street.

The proposed traffic plan would allow for queuing of vehicles around the rear facility, particularly necessary immediately following the opening of the restaurant, as the novelty will likely increase vehicle traffic to the site at a higher level than will typically be seen during normal operations. The Planning Board is requiring that the applicant will work with the Safety Officer, Inspector of Buildings, and the Planning Director at least 48 hours prior to opening for review of the plans and that the business owners will hire a police traffic detail in order to maintain traffic flow on Route 38 during peak periods.

Division 2 North Sectional Tournament

Wildcats head into the quarterfinals

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High boys soccer team kept their remarkable undefeated season going on Monday night at Alumni Field in the first round of the Division 2 North Tournament, winning an exciting 1-0 contest over Wayland to improve their record on the season to 16-0-3 on the season.

Even more important than keeping the undefeated streak intact, the second seeded Wildcats also advanced to the quarterfinals of the tournament where they were set to take on 10th seeded Winchester High on Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 at Alumni Field where they will try to advance to the semi-finals for the second straight season.

Results of the game against Winchester were not known as of presstime. Should the Wildcats prevail against the Sachems, the team would advance to the sectional semi-finals to be played on Friday with site and time to be announced against the winner of North Andover/Reading. North Andover is the No. 3 seed with a 15-1-2 record and defeated Triton Regional in the first round, 3-1. Reading is the No. 6 seed and defeated Tewksbury on Monday night, 4-2, in the first round. Wilmington and North Andover played to a 2-2 tie earlier this season, and last year the Wildcats defeated Reading in the quarterfinal round of the tournament, before losing in the semi-finals to Masconomet.

The Wildcats scored the only goal of Monday's game in the 20th minute of the second half on a goal by junior striker Andy Owens off of a great throw-in from Mike Murphy. The Wayland goalie bobbled Murphy's throw-in and an alert Owens was there to pounce on it and break the scoreless deadlock and help propel the Wildcats forward in the tournament.

"That throw-in is weapon that we have been able to use a lot his year," Wilmington coach Steve Scanlon said. "And we had seen the goalie mishandle a couple of throws in their first round game so we thought we might have a chance."

The Wildcats were able to take advantage of that chance thanks to Owens heads up play, as he scored his 15th goal of the season and fifth in the last three games. Owens, who also plays hockey for Scanlon in the winter, pounced on the loose ball like a loose puck in the crease before slipping it past the goalie.

"He's a goal scorer. That's what he does," Scanlon said. "He made a heads up play. Maybe it's the hockey player in him. He just puts his nose down and goes after the ball."

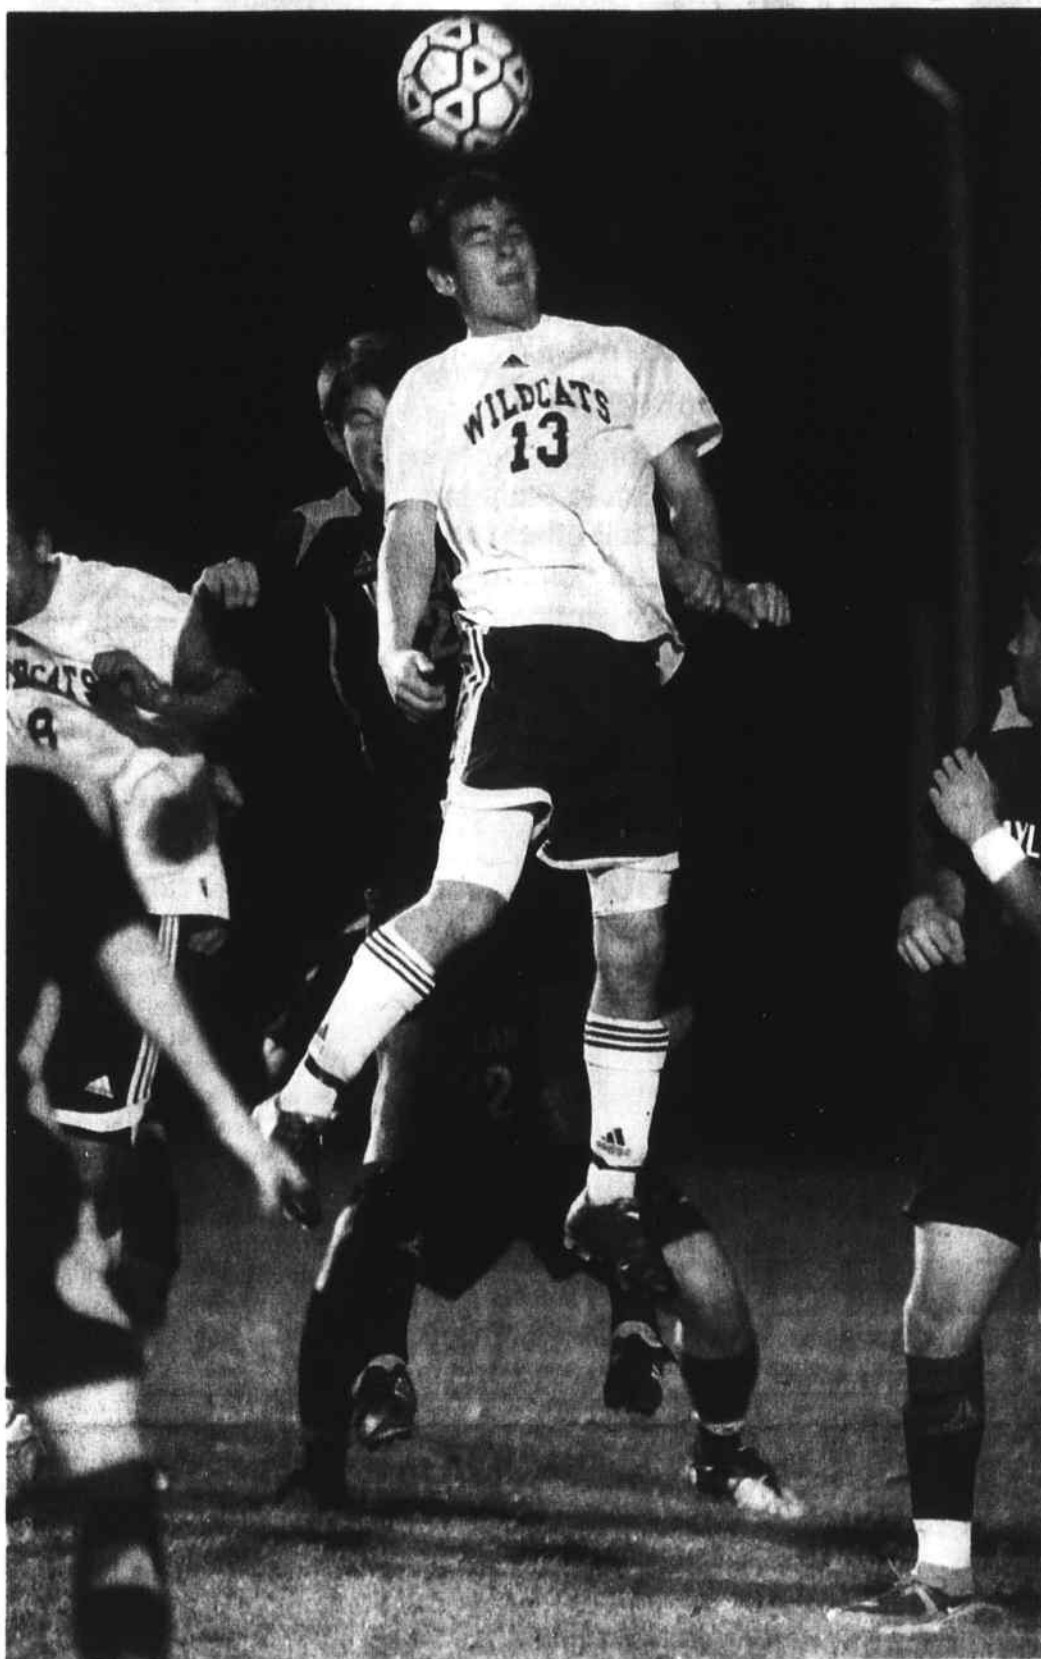

The one goal was more than enough to stand up for the Wildcats as senior goalie Marty Bamberg continued his outstanding play this season, making seven saves for his 13th shutout of the season, and his ninth consecutive shutout (720 minutes without a goal).

Bamberg was solid throughout the contest, but he was spectacular when he needed to be, making a pair of great saves in the second half, the first coming on a Wayland shot rifled on net from about 20 yards out in the second minute of the half, and the second coming in the 28th minute when he dove to make a hand save of a shot that came off of a Wayland throw-in.

Bamberg was also spectacular all night in thwarting throw-in and corner kick chances for the Warriors by skying above the other players and coming down with the ball.

"Marty had a great game and he did a great job taking the ball out of play especially on their long throws," Scanlon said.

Murphy and Owens team up for lone goal

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

As the second half approached the halfway point in the Wilmington High soccer team's first round game against Wayland in the Division 2 North Tournament at Alumni Field on Monday night, it was looking more and more like the squad would be heading for an overtime shootout.

Both goalies were playing well, and the teams appeared to be very evenly matched. Penalty kicks seemed inevitable.

But that was when a play that has become a staple of the Wilmington offense all season came through when they needed it most. With the clock approaching the 20 minute mark, Wilmington's Jacob Briere broke toward the Wayland net, but was taken down by a Warrior defender, setting up a throw-in opportunity for the Wildcats.

For Wilmington, such an opportunity meant just one thing, and that was having senior Mike Murphy execute the throw-in and having the Wildcats Andy Owens and Nick Godzyk among others crash the net and look to make a play on the ball.

It is a play that has worked many times in the past this season, and it came through this time when it mattered most. Murphy executed a perfect throw-in which the Wayland goalie bobbled and dropped in front of the net. Right there to pounce on the loose ball for the Wildcats was Owens who slammed the ball home for the only goal the Wildcats would need in their 1-0 victory.

"On that play I just want to hold my ground in front of the net," Owens said after the game. "I saw the goalie handle it and then drop it and I was able to get to it."

Owens gave credit to Murphy for starting the play and executing it to perfection.

"It's a great weapon to have," Owens said. "Murphy does a great job and gives us a chance to make a play in those situations."

All season long Murphy has been getting 50 to 60 yards on his throw-ins on a consistent basis, which has set up a number of goals. Although the Wildcats were struggling to generate offense through the first 60 minutes of play on Monday, coach Steve Scanlon had full confidence that at some point in the game his team would be able to make a big play in such a situation.

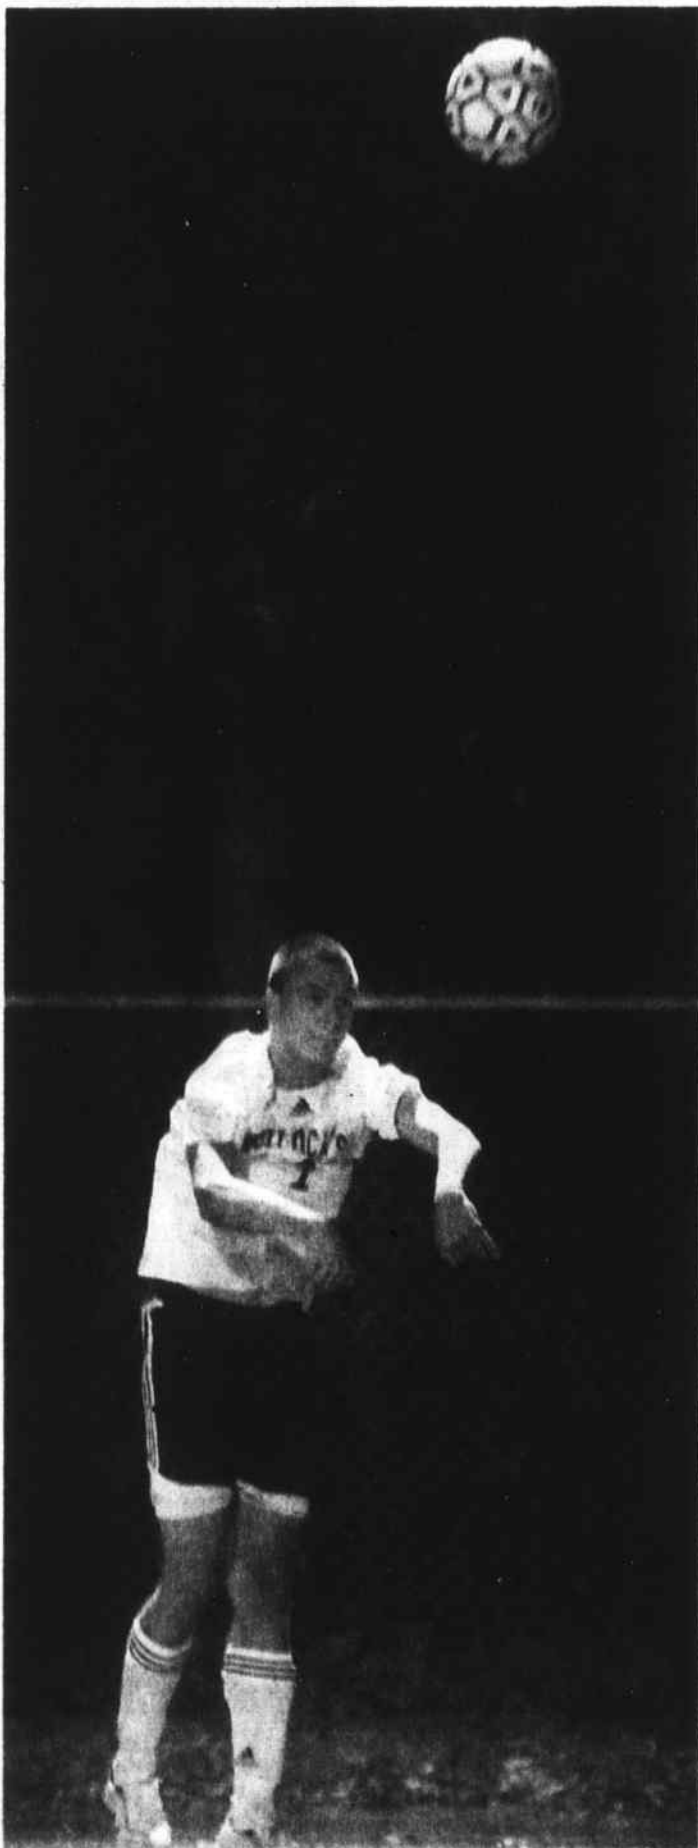

"That throw-in is a weapon that we have been able to use a lot his year," Scanlon said. "And we had seen the goalie mishandle a couple of throws in their first round game so we thought we might have a chance."

Murphy made that chance possible with his on target throw. He, like Scanlon, was aware that the Wayland keeper had had some trouble on throw-ins recently and he tried to take advantage of it.

"I thought if I threw it near the goal somebody might be able to get to it or he might bobble it and we would have a chance to get a goal," Murphy said. "Andy is always going after the ball. He and Godzyk are the guys I usually look for and he made a nice

Division 2 North Sectional Field Hockey

Dream season comes to an end

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

WALTHAM -- There's been many stories written about the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team's amazing turnaround. And just two days after the team accomplished something that hadn't been done since 1992, the dream season for the Wildcats came to an end when the very talented Watertown Raiders came away with a 7-1 win over Wilmington in the Division 2 North Sectional Quarterfinals played Friday afternoon at Waltham High School.

Wilmington -- making its first tournament appearance since 2003 -- beat Swampscott in the first round of the tournament in front of the home crowd, 1-0, last Wednesday night. Thus the 1-1 record in the tournament means the team ended its season with a 13-4-4 record, the most wins from any team dating back to 1992 when the Wildcats had 15 victories including two in the tournament before losing in the semi-finals.

While head coach Jodi MacKenzie and her team may realize the milestones the team achieved this year after finishing last year with just three victories, perhaps none of them have gone one step further. The Wildcats finished 13-4-4, and their four losses came against North Andover (twice), Manchester-Essex and Watertown, three teams that are in the sectional semi-finals of both the Division 1 and Division 2 tournaments. Those three teams have a combined record of 53-1-6.

Take away those four losses and Wilmington went 13-0-4 against the rest of its competition including a 5-0-1 mark against teams that qualified for the post-season.

Moments after the season officially came to an end, MacKenzie was asked to reflect upon these last three months-plus.

"I just said to (the team), not for nothing but this season totally exceeded my expectations," she said. "I was hoping to double our record from last year and we quadrupled it, so that's not that bad. So maybe I should just quit after this year because it can't get any better than this -- well I guess it actually could."

MacKenzie was joking about leaving her post after just two seasons, but added how much the team's six seniors who will be leaving will be missed.

"This has been an unforgettable season and they are a group of seniors who will be unforgettable," she said. "Liz Crannell - you don't get that talent every year. Jacqui Lyman is the heart-and-soul of the team. Nicole Luz the first-year player, who came out strong and has a successful season. Sam Palermo, Danielle Sugrue and Laurel Pickett were great up front, leading us in scoring - so they were a great group of seniors."

Watertown scored just 2:39 into the game as Emily Sideris found Jessica Doggett wide open and her shot fell inside the left hand post for the quick 1-0 lead. But Wilmington stormed right back, scoring a goal just 45 seconds later as Liz Crannell sent a bullet shot from about 20 yards out that deflected off the stick of Christina Wilson and up and over the Raiders' goalie to tie the game up at 1-1.

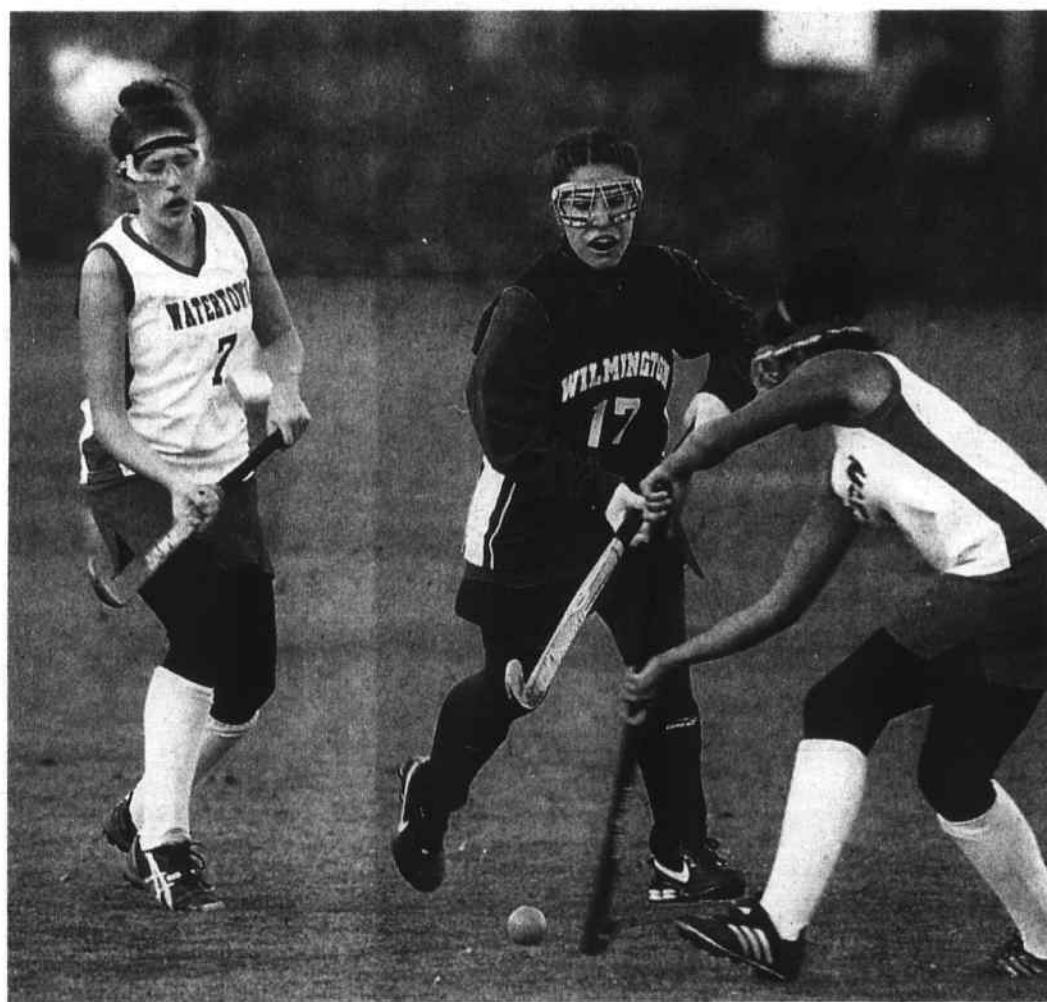

Watertown took the lead just 2:12 later as Erika Kelly put home a rebound to go up 2-1, and moments later, Wildcat netminder Nicole Luz made a huge save on Lauren Sutherland in front of the net, forcing MacKenzie to call a timeout.

"We knew coming into this game that Watertown is a very good team," said MacKenzie. "But in the first ten minutes of the game, I said 'wow we're going to beat them'. I didn't think (Watertown) brought their 'A' game, so I called that timeout hoping to pump my girls up, and I think that's when Watertown really came out stronger. And every time we a goal was scored on us this season, the girls heads just drop. They don't know how to come back and handle that."

Watertown scored three more goals before the first half ended, but Crannell had two goals called back, scoring from outside the circle but neither shot was touched by a Wildcat player's stick, therefore the goals didn't count. Had that happened, the game would have completely changed.

The Raiders added two more goals in the second half to officially put the game away.

"From the girls' perspective, (Watertown) was a very (physical) team, pushing them and touching them and my girls just weren't used to that. I know definitely some teams are like that and I know when I played competitively it was like that, but my girls weren't used to that," said MacKenzie. "The Cape Ann League teams like North Andover and Manchester are not (physical) and my girls got upset about it, as if (Watertown) was bullying them."

"(My girls) just don't realize it's (Watertown's) way of being aggressive."

Wilmington will lose six players off this year's team, but will return ten players with varsity experience including Christina Wilson, Fiona Gately, Ryanne Newhouse, Kristyn Callahan, Elizabeth Jaeschke and Christi Bush, who all logged serious minutes this season and who were all important parts of the team's tremendous ride.

'Cats take opener

Last Wednesday, Wilmington outshot the No. 10 seed Swampscott, 31-2 but could only get one goal in, as Danielle Sugrue was set up by Christina Wilson just two minutes into the second half.

"We broke the curse finally," said MacKenzie, referring to the team losing its last six state tournament games, all in the first round. "Honestly though I thought this should have been a 5-0 game. We dominated. In our last ten minutes of our last few games we have totally dominated and if we played like that in every game, that I really wouldn't be worried about facing Watertown. But sometimes we come out weak and that leaves us a little vulnerable at first and then it's like we have to catch up."

After a scoreless half in which saw the Wildcats hold a 20-1 advantage in shots, Sugrue nailed home the game winner just two minutes after the teams had a short halftime break.

"Christina Wilson just crossed it and I was there to tap it in - she and Laurel Pickett have been doing that all season long," said Sugrue. "So if it wasn't for Christina, I wouldn't be getting all of these goals."

That goal obviously was the biggest one in her career, and from there Sugrue said she tried as hard as she could to keep her emotions intact.

"Oh my God, it was ten minutes to nine minutes to eight minutes, and then once it went down to the final seconds, I was just getting more and more excited," she said about the possibility of the team coming away with the win.

And when the final whistle blew?

"I'm just really, really excited and I just don't know what to say but we couldn't have done it without everyone on this team," she said.

Luz kicked season long pain aside

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

With two minutes left of last Wednesday's state tournament opening round game, senior Christi Bush made a huge defensive play as she covered up the weak side post and kept the ball out from the net to help goalie Nicole Luz and the rest of the Wildcats preserve the shut out, preserve the win and allow Luz to play one more time, which was so important to the senior.

"Christi saved my butt - she is the reason why I'm playing on Friday," said Luz last Wednesday night after the team defeated Swampscott, 1-0 in the first round of the Division 2 North sectional tournament, before losing Friday to Watertown. "If I had to go down (on the ground) one more time, my season would be over - but she made that great play so I didn't have to."

The story for Nicole Luz is simple amazing and that story was extended one more chapter thanks to her good buddy Christi Bush.

Luz is a first-time field hockey player - she was convinced to play the sport by two of her closest friends, captains Jacqui Lyman and Laurel Pickett - after she played JV soccer the last few years. All Luz did was come in, earn the job, help lead the Wildcats to their most wins since 1992 with 13, and lead the team into the second round of the state tournament for the first time since '92, all the while posting a save percentage over 90 percent and finishing the season with nine shut outs.

More impressive than that, Luz accomplished all of that playing the entire season injured. Over the last few weeks, she was seen hobbling around on crutches with help from her sister Sarah while watching several of the boys soccer games. Nicole has been battling a knee injury, which got worse as the season went along, so much so she already has surgery scheduled in the next few weeks.

"My Patellar (tendon in my left knee) is completely (ruptured)," she explained. "There is a bunch of fluid on both sides and it's just rising up. All of the cartilage is gone so they have to go in drain the fluid, and take the tendons out so they are back on top (of the Patellar). It basically just means that my kneecap is out of joint."

According to "Arthroscopy.com", the extent of the her injury is explained as: "When the patellar tendon ruptures, the patella loses its anchoring support to the tibia. Without this anchoring effect of the intact patella tendon, the patella tends to move superiorly (towards the hip) as the quadriceps muscle contracts. Without the intact patella tendon, the patient is unable to straighten the knee. If a rupture of the patella tendon occurs, and the patient tries to stand up, the knee will usually buckle and give way because the body is no longer able to hold the knee in a position of extension (straight)."

That being said, Luz has been playing in a lot of pain. So much so, flopping down on the ground to make saves, or moving left to right is nearly impossible for her. Yet she was able to somehow play through the pain throughout all of Wednesday's win. That's when she faced just two shots on game as the team recorded a 1-0 win over Swampscott in her final home game of her career.

"It was good (to only face two shots)," she said. "I'm hurting a little, so it allows me to play on Friday. I've been having knee problems for two years now. I've been walking around on crutches for the past three weeks to try to keep off of it as much as possible. I'm having surgery in December, so I'm just trying to fight it off as much as I can and playing through it. I'm having the surgery anyway, so I might as well just continue to play."

"It's just something that you have to get through. 'I think every athlete goes through (an injury) so I'm not really concerned.'"

That, play field hockey, she says, is a choice she'll never regret and will always remember. As she will also always remember being part of 14 wins, and one in particular - the playoff victory.

"This is awesome," she said. "Everyone worked so hard this season and it's paying off. I'm new to the team, but it feels like I've been on it for four years so this is really awesome to come this far and be on this team for just one year."

"Two of the captains are two of my best friends who I have known since I was little and they talked me into it. I really wasn't planning on doing anything so it worked out well. I play goalie for the lacrosse team, so it was easy to transition into (a field hockey goalie). I don't mind being back there, just as long as I have a defense that I can trust - if I didn't trust (the defenders) I think I may have an issue with it. But these girls have been awesome. I'm completely blown away over this. No one ever expected us to come this far especially coming from a team that had just three wins, and I come from lacrosse and we certainly don't win a lot either. So this is just mindboggling."

What is really mindboggling is the fact that Luz tried to play one more game despite basically standing on one leg. On Friday afternoon the team took on Watertown, the No. 2 seed, who have more state championship titles than Luz has shut outs. Yet Luz was out there making five saves, including one spectacular, before going down in obvious pain, moving and diving to her right trying to stop what turned out to be Watertown's fifth goal of the game.

"She deserves so much credit," said head coach Jodi MacKenzie. "She is hurting - I mean she is really hurting." Luz came out of the game with 5:02 left in the first half and in obviously horrific pain. She was quickly attended to by the game's trainer, her teammates and coaches as well as her parents who really couldn't do much to help her injury except put ice and a bandage on it, and get her comfortable on the bench area.

During that time, Luz realized that her playing days were over. Now it's just a matter of weeks before the surgery will be performed and hopefully she'll have a brand new knee by the time her college days begin. So instead of sulking being out of the game and the team losing, Luz watched and cheered on her teammates, including giving a big shout out to Bush, her good buddy who allowed her to play the sport she quickly fell in love with, one final time.

Mite 2's battle hard in two games

A challenging weekend of games for the Mite 2's this weekend. After an astounding comeback on Saturday night, they finished on the wrong end of a 7-6 heartbreaker to the Methuen Mite 1's. On Sunday, they battled Peabody's Mite 1 team to 4-4 final.

The Wildcat's went into a hole to start the game against Methuen on Saturday until Drew Miller pulled Wilmington back into the game with two outstanding goals. Felecia Zuccola continued to show prowess around the net as she sent home a bouncing rebound from about 10 feet out. Aiding the offense with unselfish play were Matt Pendenza with one assist and Dean Nally with two. Kyle Collins rushed the puck from one end of the ice to the other like a miniature Bobby Orr, leaving all defenders behind as he sent the puck over the goaltenders right shoulder.

The efforts of Julia Ryan, Justin Crowley and Jared Russell were keeping it close for the late game heroics.

With four minutes to play with the Cats down 6-4, Dylan Wargo tried to complete the improbable comeback. Dylan scored two goals to tie the game at 6-6. Methuen popped in the game winner with under a minute to play.

On Sunday, Wilmington battled tooth and nail with Peabody for a well earned tie. The tenacious play of Matt Miller and Sam Cedrone kept the puck moving and goal chances coming.

Willie Lawson nearly took over the game himself by scoring two goals. Defensemen Dean Nally and Kyle Collins scored the other two goals as they join the offensive rush.

In both games, Wilmington was kept in the games by the goaltending of Cam Banks. Cam saw lots of rubber over the weekend but managed to turn away shot after shot.

Wildcats head into quarterfinals

Barnberg was also aided by the outstanding defensive play of senior sweeper Colin Foley, senior stopper Jim Marra and junior midfielder Nick Godzyk.

Prior to the go-ahead goal, the Wildcats had held the edge in play for much of the second half which was in contrast to the first half of the game when they could not seem to generate much offense at all.

Scanlon felt that his team's uneven play in the first half may have been a result of their long layoff since their regular season finale last Wednesday.

"I thought we were a little tight early on," Scanlon said. "Maybe it was not playing for a while. Wayland had played just the other day and sometimes that helps to get a game under your belt."

Caleb Rogers did have a chance for the Wildcats at the 20:00 mark of the first half, coming up the right side and launching a shot that banged off the crossbar, but for the most part they were held in check by the Warriors.

Wayland, meanwhile, did not have many chances of their own either, but when they did Barnberg was up to the task, making a stop in the 27th minute on a shot from about 25 yards out, while another Wayland shot was launched over the net just over a minute later.

Wilmington began to control territorial play early in the second half and continued that control until Owens scored his clutch goal.

Although Wayland came into the game seeded just 18th with a record of 8-6-3 after their preliminary round win over Central Catholic, Scanlon knew his team would be in for a battle against their opponents from the Dual County League.

"I thought it was a good game and both teams played tactically well," Scanlon said.

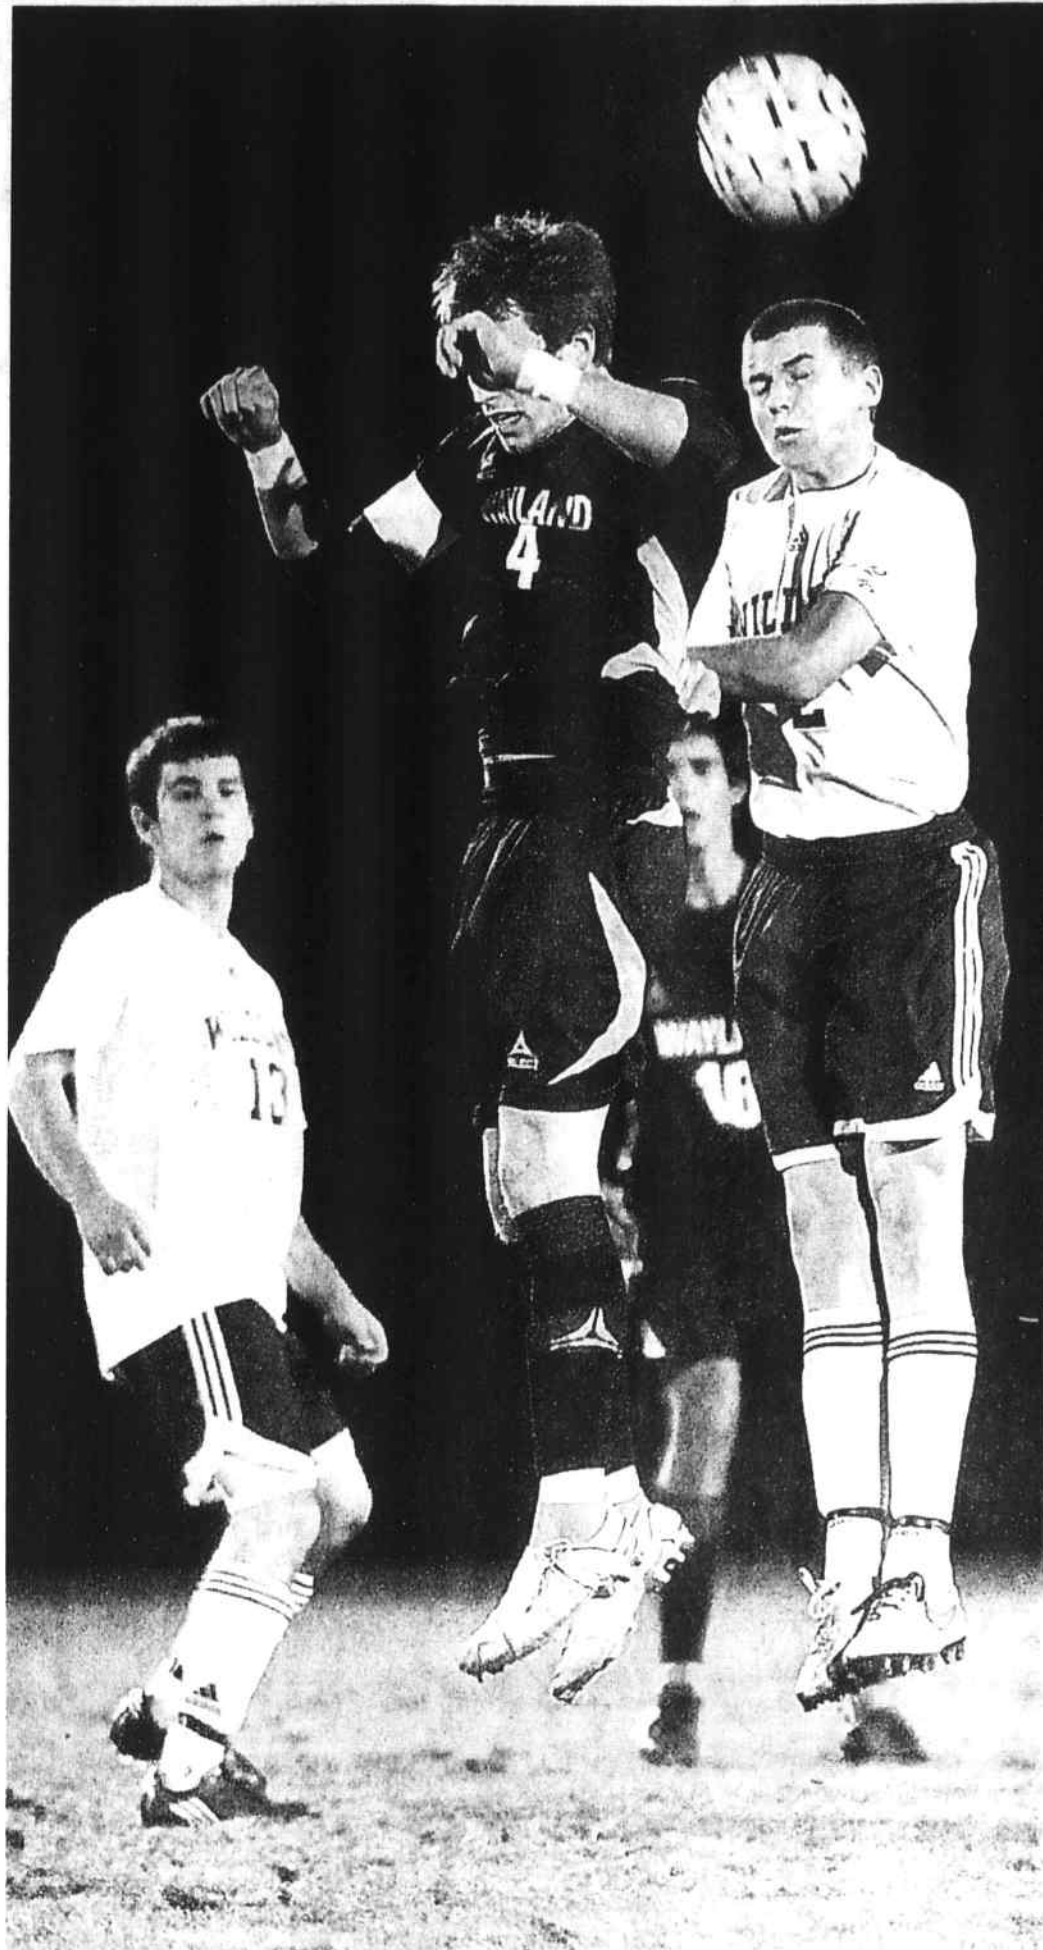

"We knew they would be tough because they were certainly battle tested playing in that league all year long against some Division 1 teams."

At the same time, however, Scanlon knows his team would have to step up their game against Winchester if they wanted to continue to advance.

"In tournament play, all it's about is winning and advancing," Scanlon said. "But we will have to play better if we are going to beat Winchester. We will not beat them if we play like we did tonight."

Correction

In a story written two weeks ago by Jamie Pote, it was said that the Wildcats win over Masconomet this season was the second time in the program's history, when in fact the Wildcats defeated Masco three combined times during the 1997 and 1998 seasons.

Wilmington High junior Nick Godzyk goes up for a head ball, while teammate Andy Owens looks on during Monday night's 1-0 first round state tournament win over Wayland. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Godzyk are the guys I usually look for and he made a nice play to score the goal."

Just as Scanlon was not surprised to see the throw-in play work, he was equally not surprised that it was Owens, with 15 goals on the year and five in his past three games, who put the ball in the net.

"He's a goal scorer. That's what he does," Scanlon said. "He made a heads up play. Maybe it's the hockey player in him. He just puts his nose down and goes after the ball. He can cruise for a while and then he makes a big play."

No doubt Murphy and Owens will be counted on to make many more big plays as the Wildcats continue their run in the state tournament. With Winchester on tap for Wednesday, Murphy is looking forward to his team's next step.

"We are going to have to play better," Murphy said. "It is not going to get any easier."

Wildcats fall for second time in a row

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Rarely will you ever find a football game that was more evenly matched than last Friday night's Cape Ann League clash between Wilmington High and North Andover. When the final numbers were tallied, each team had 14 first downs, each team had rushed the ball 34 times, and Wilmington had run a grand total of two more offensive plays than North Andover through the entire game.

Unfortunately for the Wildcats, although the final score of the game was also extremely close, they finished on the short end of a 14-12 outcome in a highly competitive and well played contest that was not decided until a last gasp drive by the Wildcats fell short in Scarlet Knight territory as time expired.

The loss, the Wildcats second straight, dropped Wilmington to 6-3 overall on the season (2-2 in the CAL) while North Andover improved to 7-2 (2-1).

Trailing by two points in the final minute of the game, the Wildcats never gave up, and an interception by Chris Frissore at the Wildcat four yard line with 56 seconds left in the game gave Wilmington one last chance. Without a timeout, they still nearly pulled off the miracle when junior quarterback Sean Hanley, who had been frustrated by the Scarlet Knights for much of the second half, showed tremendous poise and completed five straight passes to move his team to the North Andover 46 yard line. But the Scarlet Knight defense stiffened and forced three straight incompletions to close out the game and earn the hard fought victory.

"Sean hung tough," Wilmington coach Mike

Barry said. "We had a couple of pass plays down the middle that we could not use because we did not have any timeouts. But Sean did a good job. He came into this season good and he has gotten better. As a coach, I would not want anyone else as my quarterback."

The game was close throughout, with North Andover holding a 14-6 lead at the half before the Wildcats Evan Butters (24 carries, 154 yards) scored his 15th touchdown of the season on a 14 yard run with 1:39 left in the third quarter to pull Wilmington within two points. Having had their first extra point attempt of the night blocked, the Wildcats were forced to go for two and Hanley's pass, intended for tight end Brian Hurley was broken up by North Andover's Brandon Walsh who also had a fine game at quarterback for the Scarlet Knights.

The score stood at 14-12 and that is how it would remain.

"Tonight was a case of two good teams playing well against each other," Barry said. "It was a clean game and there were not a lot of penalties called. Both teams played well, but we did not cash in on some chances."

Early on, it looked like the Wildcats were going to jump on top of the Scarlet Knights very quickly. After taking the opening kickoff, Hanley and Butters led the Wildcats on a 12 play drive to move from their 30 yard line all the way to the North Andover two. Key plays on the drive were a 26 yard run by Butters on the first play from scrimmage and then a seven yard completion from Hanley to sophomore John Parsons on third and six that gave the Wildcats a first down at the North Andover 11 yard line.

The Wildcats got the ball to the Scarlet Knight two yard line, but were stopped short on fourth and goal and North Andover took over at their one yard line.

"We had that drive early in the game, but we could not punch it in," Barry said. "I wish we had that back. You're always going to second guess (trying a field goal), but it was early in the game and there was a lot of football left to be played."

North Andover jumped on top first on the final play of the first quarter. Facing a 4th and 11 from the Wilmington 38 yard line, running back Zac Iovanella made a leaping catch of a Walsh pass in the middle of the end zone to give the Scarlet Knights the lead.

Dylan Lurvey added the first of his two extra points on the night for a 7-0 lead.

Wilmington responded on their next possession, however, going on a seven play, 59 yard drive that was capped by a great throw and catch from Hanley to Brian Hurley in the corner of the end zone with 7:24 left in the first half.

Possibly the key play of the game came on the extra point attempt when North Andover broke through the Wilmington offensive line to block the extra point and leave the score at 7-6. The missed conversion would play a huge role later in the game.

North Andover scored what would prove to be the winning points later in the second quarter after pinning the Wildcats at their three yard line with a great punt and forcing Wilmington to punt from their end zone.

After a 12 yard return, North Andover took over at the Wilmington 21 yard line and needed just two plays before Iovanella scored on a 13 yard run to make the score 14-6 with 3:22 left in the half.

Late in the third quarter, Wilmington took advantage of the only short punt of the night by North Andover, taking possession at the Scarlet Knight 42 yard line and taking just three plays to get in the end zone on a 14 yard run by Butters before the all important two point conversion failed to preserve North Andover's margin of victory.

Potcner named to NE-10 third team

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Stephen Potcner was named to the Northeast-10 Third Team after a strong season for the UMass Lowell men's soccer team. The Wilmington native, a junior forward, made an All-Conference team for the first time.

Potcner led the River Hawks in scoring with six goals and one assist, despite the fact he missed three matches with a leg injury. The River Hawks ended their season with a 2-0 loss to Merrimack last Wednesday.

Ernie Mello scored his sixth touchdown of the season in WPI's last game, but it wasn't enough as the Engineers fell to Susquehanna 35-21 on Saturday. The Wilmington running back punched in the game's first touchdown nine minutes into the first quarter.

For the season Mello rushed for 385 yards and had 12 catches for 154 yards. Teammate Adam Power, a junior strong safety from Tewksbury, played in all nine of his team's games. He had 35 tackles, an interception return and two fumble recoveries.

Wilmington's Mike Fitzgerald had three catches for 24 yards in MIT's 27-15 loss to Endicott College on Saturday. The senior wide receiver finished the season with 20 catches for 280 yards, including a touchdown.

Local resident Kathleen Graziano's time of 37:06 placed her 73rd in last Saturday's "TIP Family 5K" in Lawrence. Three Wilmington natives took part in the "Team Micky 5K" held in Lowell on Sunday. Brian McCarthy finished in 134th place with a time of 33:33. James Chryst ran the same time and finished in 135th place. Alessandra Seretto's time of 43:47 placed her 152nd.

Six locals competed in Sunday's "Ninth Larry Robinson 10 Miler and 5K Race," including five from Wilmington. In the 5K, Wilmington's Rebecca Connolly finished in 16th place with a time of 21:14. She was the third woman to cross the line. William Tammaro, also of Wilmington, finished in 20th place with a time of 21:41. Lauren Tammaro's time of 28:13 placed her 77th.

In the 10-mile race, Wilmington's Alison Powers finished in 186th place with a time of 1:25:18. Catherine Kane finished in 286th place with a time of 1:36:49.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Volleyball team spiked in quarterfinal round

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech volleyball team saw their season come to an end on Tuesday night in the quarterfinals of the Division 3 North Tournament with a 3-1 (25-23, 12-25, 25-20, 25-20) loss to CAC rival Whittier.

With the loss the fourth seeded Lady Rams finished their season with a record of 12-9, while fifth seeded Whittier (12-9) advanced to take on Notre Dame Academy of Tyngsboro in the semi-finals.

"I thought we had a chance to win every game," Shawsheen coach Chet Flynn said. "Even in the fourth game we were tied 20-20, but we made a couple of mistakes that put them up 22-20 and then they won a few volleys to win 25-20."

As it turned out, what had plagued the Lady Rams throughout the season a times, came back to haunt them again in the tournament.

"At crucial parts of the game we made some mistakes," Flynn said. "We have talked about could have, would have, should have all year, but it still ended up costing us at times during the year and then in this one as well."

One of the games where Flynn felt his team let get away from them was the first game where they dropped a 25-23 decision.

"That was one I thought we should have won, but we made an awful lot of errors," Whittier was playing solid defense, but at the same time, we had 9 or 10 spike attempts that either went into the net or out of bounds and that cost us."

Shawsheen got outstanding performances on the day from junior Allyson Trayah of Tewksbury with four kills and the same strong defense she has displayed all season long, along with senior co-captain, Holly Zechner who chipped in with 10 assists, while junior Jess Houghton added 8 assists and played a great all around game.

While the season ended earlier than Flynn or his team would have liked, the coach, was not disappointed with his team. He just wishes they could have a few key games or plays back during the season.

"I am not disappointed," Flynn said. "We had some question marks headed into the season like our lack of height, but we seemed to overcome that. We just had too many mental lapses which did not allow us to get enough out of the team. I think the players would tell you the same thing."

The Lady Rams will lose three senior starters off of this year's team, as they will say 'goodbye' to co-captains Zechner and Amy DeCelles along with Sarah Elwell of Tewksbury.

Football

The Shawsheen football suffered a tough loss on Saturday afternoon, dropping a 30-7 decision to CAC rival Greater Lawrence. As they have on several occasions this season, the Rams hung tough with a very good opponent for half the game, but a combination of some missed opportunities and their opponents stepping up their game in the second half conspired for a blowout loss.

On Saturday, the Rams found themselves trailing by just 9 points at the half, and they may very well have taken a lead into the locker room were it not for a pair of dropped passes in the end zone that stalled a drive late in the first half.

Trailing just 13-7 at the time of the drops, the Rams missed an opportunity to at least tie the game or go up 14-13, and instead saw the Reggies drive for a 29 yard field goal with five seconds left to extend their lead to 16-7 at the half.

"I thought we played a really good game in the first half," said Shawsheen head coach Al Costabile. "We were just a couple of plays from turning the whole half around and possibly being up at halftime."

With the loss, the Rams dropped to 2-7 on the season (0-3) in the CAC Large, while the Reggies improved to 7-2 and 2-1 in the CAC.

As well as the Rams played in the first half, things quickly began to turn against them in the second half, when senior fullback Angel Rivera broke free for a 57-yard touchdown run on the first play from scrimmage and gave the Reggies a much more formidable 23-7 advantage.

The Reggies would add one more score when Chris Pizzuto (27 carries, 133 yards) scored from 35 yards out with 6:39 left in the game to account for 30-7 final. The Rams are hardly the only team to struggle against Pizzuto who has now rushed for 1,729 and 24 touchdowns on the season.

"He's a good player, but that offensive line really does a great job blocking for him," Costabile said. They're big and fast up front and they started to exert their speed and size."

The Rams have a pretty great back of their own in the backfield in senior Cory Foss who had scored the Rams only touchdown with 9:30 left in the first half on an eight yard run to tie the score at 7-7 at the time. Foss carried the ball 27 times for 169 yards and now has 13 touchdowns to go along with 1,093 rushing yards and 88 points.

It is the second season in a row that Foss has rushed for over 1,000 yards, having run for 1,093 last season.

"I just can't say enough about him," Costabile said. "He is by far one of the toughest football players I have seen in my 22 years as a coach. He's the type of player that you just love to coach because he going hard at all times."

Things will not get any easier for the Rams this Saturday when they host defending Division 4 Super Bowl champs Manchester Essex. The Hornets will bring a 7-2 record into the contest, having lost only in their season opener to Danvers and then last week to apparent CAC Large champion Whittier.

Boys Soccer

The Shawsheen boys soccer team ended their season with a 4-0 loss to Triton regional in the first round of the Division 2 North Tournament. The Rams, who were making their 10th straight post season appearance finished the season with an overall record of 8-8-3.

Lady Rams make program history

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA - For the first time in the history of the program, the Shawsheen Tech girls soccer team advanced to the Division 3 North Sectional semi-finals on Tuesday afternoon and they did so in dramatic fashion, with a 2-1 penalty kick win over Ipswich at Shawsheen.

The win improved the second seeded Rams to 21-2-2 on the season, while 10th seeded Ipswich finished their season at 9-7-4.

Sabrina Gomes scored the game winning penalty kick for the Lady Rams, moments after goalie Jen Curtis had stopped Ipswich for the final time, giving Shawsheen a 4-3 advantage on penalty kicks and breaking what had been a 1-1 tie through regulation time and two ten minute overtimes.

"The team is ecstatic. It was such a great win for us," Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud said. "We knew coming in that Ipswich would be tough and they were. They made us work for everything."

Ipswich had actually taken a 1-0 lead in the 10th minute of the first half, with the ball just barely eluding Curtis on a fine play by the Ipswich forward.

Shortly after the goal, Michaud called a timeout in order to remove a snake that was on the field and had been distracting his team. The removal of the slithering creature seemed to allow the Lady Rams to regain their focus, as they began to control play for the next several minutes until Amanda Vance scored on a tremendous shot to the far corner after a great setup by Jenna Zechner in the 19th minute to tie the score at 1-1.

"That was a great play," Michaud did. "That is the type of thing they have been doing all year long. Their goalie made some great saves on us throughout the game, but she could not get to that one."

The teams remained scoreless through the second half with both teams having several scoring chances. Curtis thwarted each Ipswich chance both in regulation time as well as through the two ten minute overtime periods before the teams headed to the penalty kick phase.

Things did not start off well for the Lady Rams, with Ipswich taking a quick 2-0 lead, scoring on their first two attempts, but a pair of freshmen from Tewksbury, Kristen Carroll and Amanda Medeiros scored on the next two attempts to tie it at 2-2.

After Ipswich took a 3-2 lead, Zechner tied it for Shawsheen with a shot that went through the goalie's hands.

The Lady Rams finally put the game away with after Curtis made a nice save and then Gomes potted the game winner to allow Shawsheen to advance to face CAC rival Greater Lowell in the sectional semi-finals at Cawley Stadium in Lowell on Thursday at 6:00.

Shawsheen has defeated Greater Lowell three times this year by scores of 6-1 and 5-0 in the regular season and then 3-0 last week in the semi-finals of the State Vocational Tournament. But of course, as Michaud and his team know, none of that will matter when the teams square off on Thursday.

"We have seen them before and we know we can beat them, but this is the sectional semi finals so we will have to play well to beat them again," Michaud said.

The Lady Rams had advanced to face Ipswich with a 2-0 victory in the first round over Winthrop, the team that had knocked them out of the tournament in the first round last season. After being tied 0-0 at halftime, Zechner scored twice in the second half, the second goal coming off a great set up by senior Jenn Carroll of Wilmington.

The Lady Rams seemed to be dragging a little as the teams went to the half, but they came out in the second half with a renewed energy and quickly took the lead with Zechner scoring her first just two minutes into the half and coming up with her second at the 20 minute mark.

"It was a very warm day and I think they were really worn down at the half," Michaud said. "But they came out rejuvenated in the second half and we pretty much dominated from there."

The Lady Rams came into the state tournament, fresh off winning their third consecutive state vocational crown with a 3-1 win over Diman Voke in Fall River last Thursday. Shawsheen has now been to the voke championship game four years in a row, winning the last three, including the last two over Diman.

Shawsheen took a 1-0 lead with about two minutes left in the first half on goal by Carroll and Michaud said the late goal was a big boost for his team.

"When we scored that goal late you could see that it really wore on Diman when they came out for the second half and at the same time it gave us some good momentum," Michaud said.

Medeiros and Zechner each added second half goals while Curtis made 14 saves. Kim Barriss, Taylor Bergstrom and Gomes all played well for Shawsheen.

Along with the thrill of winning another voke title, Michaud also felt that the voke tournament gave his team an edge headed into the state tournament.

"I definitely think it did," Michaud said. "Going in against a good opponent and having a tough game with the championship on the line helped us. It is really about attitude and with these games the kids were able to realize how well they would have to play in the state tournament."

Best electronics for the holiday shopping season

By the Editors of
Consumer Reports

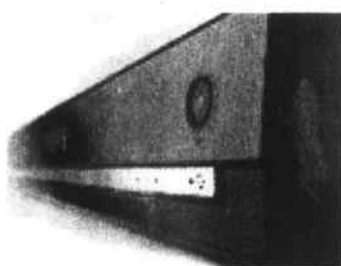

No matter what electronic gadget consumers are looking for this holiday season, they'll find quality products at unusually low prices as retailers and manufacturers try to entice purchasing in this tough economy.

Consumer Reports rated 448 electronics products including LCD and plasma TVs, Blu-ray players, laptops and desktop computers, point-and-shoot cameras, new music players and headphones. Highlights of CR's findings include:

-- LCD & Plasma TVs. This shopping season, consumers will be enticed by high-definition TVs as prices continue to head downward. Of the 86 models tested, 42 sets offer excellent HD picture quality. CR marked 17 models as CR Best Buys for not only being a bargain, but also a quality investment. There are great options for LCDs and plasmas, such as the 46-inch LCD JVC LT-46J300, $1,000, a CR Best Buy, with excellent high definition, or the recommended plasma, Panasonic Viera TC-P42X1, $700, with strong definition and ease of use.

-- Blu-ray Players. Any of the Blu-ray players CR tested offer excellent picture quality, and all but three upconvert standard DVDs well. New to Blu-ray players is BD-Live ready, which enables a player to connect to the Internet to access content. The LG BD390, $300, is recommended as the only tested model with built-in Wi-Fi and BD-Live, providing a connection to LG's NetCast Service to access content. The CR Best Buy Magnavox NB530MGX, $130, is an excellent lower-priced player. It is a no frills player without BD-Live but provides excellent picture quality and DVD upconverting.

-- Computers. Computer manufacturers are dropping prices on quite a few desktops and laptops, but shoppers should beware of imposters posing as bargains. Some computer makers are replacing dual-core processors with single-core Pentium and Celeron processors to reduce cost. Others are offering low-priced desktops and laptops that look full powered but use a far less powerful Atom processor. But there are still good deals. The Dell Studio One 19, $900 desktop, ranked a CR Best Buy, is an all-in-one equipped with a Pentium Dual-Core processor and 256 megabytes of video RAM that performed just as well overall as other all-in-ones costing considerably more. The recommended 13.3-inch Dell Inspiron 13, $700, one of the least expensive laptops, was rated very good in performance, while the 13.1-inch MSI X-Slim X320-037US, $580, which uses an Atom processor, rated poor in performance and ranked last.

-- Point-and-Shoot Cameras. Good values and variety abound in point-and-shoots, whether shoppers are looking for a pocket-sized, simple to use, or versatile model. Recent testing of 92 cameras found that more expensive models with additional features such as more zoom, an output for HDTV, or touch-screen may not perform as well. Two Kodak models, rated CR Best Buys, the EasyShare C160, $90, and EasyShare M320, $100, show that strong subcompacts do exist for less than $150.

-- New Music Players. The latest Microsoft Zune HD 16GB, $220, or 32GB, $290, is a largely successful redesign but continues to remain Windows-only. It is thinner, more elegant, and more colorful than previous models. Features include Wi-Fi to access the Internet and the ability to download purchases directly to the player and wirelessly sync the player to a PC.

The fifth generation iPod Nano multimedia player, 8GB, $150; 16GB, $180, has useful new features, but is still unable to capture still photos. Video recording capabilities, make their debut in this version. After synching with the computer, it is easy to e-mail videos to friends, post on Facebook and YouTube, or edit in iMovie.

-- Headphones. Headphones come in various types, shapes, and sizes and provide better sound with less noise. Headphones with active noise-canceling are best for limiting interruptions while listening. They use battery-powered electronic circuitry to reduce unwanted noise picked up by their tiny microphones. The Panasonic RP-HC55, $70, a CR Best Buy, is a good noise canceling set at a low price.

Wilmington/Tewksbury residents raise funds Local communities support students in tough financial times

By RYAN LAROCHE

Although the economy is slowly turning around (the Dow recently hit a 52-week high and is currently over 10,000 points), communities in Massachusetts are still looking at ways to not only save money, but also generate funds. Two local communities this past weekend had successful fundraising efforts.

In Tewksbury, the town held its 22nd Annual Applefest Fair to raise money for the educational needs of students at Tewksbury High School, scholarships and to purchase technological equipment.

Thirty to forty volunteers worked the fair selling all kinds of items, such as fudge, chocolate, place mats, jewelry, calligraphy, and flowers. Student clubs also had displays for selling popcorn, videos and baked goods.

"It was a very successful fundraiser," said Diane Dunlevy, who organized this year's event. "We really out-did ourselves this year."

Dunlevy has been in charge for the last couple years and with a sophomore still in school said she'd most likely be helping out for a couple more years. "It's tiring and physically tough," she admitted, then joked, "I also have a young child, so I might be back."

The fair started 22 years ago when a couple of ladies came up with the idea. Dunlevy pointed out two previous parents who took charge including Janet Davis and Lori Angelo.

"We've lost some key players," Dunlevy noted, "because their children graduated. But parents always step up each year."

This year the Applefest Fair partnered with the All-Night Long Graduation Committee, which puts on a party and is a highlight for the seniors. Forty percent of the fair's funds go to that committee. Said Dunlevy, "It's a great way to keep the kids out of trouble and give them something to do."

With great weather, more people than usual came out to peruse the fair, though Dunlevy noted that "people always come out for it."

This year, Dunlevy, not having exact figures, believed $10,000 was raised, which is $3,000 more than average, a sure sign that even tough economic times don't stop people from giving.

"We sold out space for the vendors, sold out at the cafeteria," Dunlevy remarked. "We even sold out of the corn chowder, which has been donated every year for probably all 22 years. It's really a worthwhile cause."

To show how dedicated the parents are, Dunlevy mentioned several hardworking people including Lori Angelo, who has been volunteering for 10 years, Denise Trevör, who came back this year to setup, and Donna Lizoutte, who Dunlevy said was dedicated and committed.

Besides Tewksbury, Wilmington is another community doing its part to help students, as it held its second annual "Wilmington Has Talent" show at the high school.

Both students and local seniors got together to perform music and skits to raise money for scholarships. This year, three scholarships will be awarded to students who dedicate their time to the senior center.

"It's a fun, fun presentation," said Terri Marciello, one of the performers. "We had great singers, tap dancers, clog dancers."

The event was hosted by David Landers, whom Marciello said did a great job. He even performed with Phyllis Gorman as one-half of Sonny and Cher.

The show was produced by Audrey Reed, one of the elders at the center, who started it last year. Marciello called her the "whole stimulus, a dynamo, and a huge ham."

She said it was great for the kids to see the seniors weren't always in bed. "They get a relationship with the older adults and the kids said it was better than expected."

The show raised $1,200 and featured much singing talent including WHS students Katarina Reilly singing Etta James' "At Last," Liz Fagan/Kristen Fogarty singing "Ain't No Mountain High Enough," Heather Crowe singing "Dance," and Megan Torres singing "Total Eclipse of the Heart."

There were also solo performances by seniors Rosemary Cross, Irene Conlin, Judi Simmons, Audrey Reed, Peggy Reese, and Sister Mildred Rothwell. At the end, the entire cast assembled to perform "God Bless America."

There was also a raffle prize donated by the local restaurant As Good As it Gets.

Marciello said she hopes to see the event grow. There were approximately 100 people in attendance at this year's show and 35 participants.

"DISNEY'S A CHRISTMAS CAROL" STUNS THE SENSES

"DISNEY'S A CHRISTMAS CAROL" stars Jim Carrey as the voice of both Ebenezer Scrooge and the ghosts of Christmas past, present and future. The film is dazzling, with great 3D effects, but lacks the humanity due.

"DISNEY'S A CHRISTMAS CAROL"
GRADE: ***

Dazzling. Amazing.
Brilliant.

All of the terms above apply to Disney's A Christmas Carol, the latest feature film by director Robert Zemeckis, but the terms apply only to the presentation of the film - its special effects. Much of the rest of the overall package is less than perfect, but that's hard to remember when your jaw is on the floor after seeing the 3D visuals.

Jim Carrey plays Ebenezer Scrooge and the voices of ghosts of Christmas past, present and future. He's joined by Gary Oldman as Bob Cratchit and others, Cary Elwes, Robin Wright Penn, Colin Firth and Bob Hoskins.

Carrey's ability to do a variety of voices borders on genius, but he's forced to stick to the script, taking away the genius that usually results from his exceptional ad-libbing skills.

Though Zemeckis takes Dickens' words from the pages of his novel and puts them into the film almost verbatim, there's no a lot of love for the material on display. Such a timeless classic would seem to deserve a more loving touch, but Zemeckis and his crew seems to have spent all of their time perfecting the special effects. You get endless and technically gorgeous scenes in which Scrooge and the ghosts are flown across the countryside, but not much else.

Zemeckis achieves in his quest to stun the senses with most amazing effects and powerful 3D images you have seen yet on screen, but somehow manages to leave the humanity out of a timeless tale that is all about finding the better side in all of us.

"THIS IS IT"
GRADE: ***

When Michael Jackson declares 'This is it, the final curtain call,' during a March 5 press conference to announce his 50-show, farewell stint in London's O2 Arena, you get an eerie feeling, knowing as we do what happened just a few short months later.

The King of Pop passed away on June 25, three weeks before the first planned concert. Kenny Ortega's documentary 'This Is It', which features exclusive, up-close footage of a show that would never be, is a nice souvenir, and a great send-off for Jackson, ending his career on a high note.

Ortega's documentary could be the greatest concert film dedicated to a concert that didn't happen. But Ortega, a longtime choreographer who served as Jackson's creative partner for the program, constructs Jackson's vision for the London shows from interviews, pre-produced video segments and polished rehearsal footage.

The documentary goes through Jackson's catalogue of songs, celebrating his artistry, command and showmanship. Backed by world-class dancers, singers and musicians, all of whom gush over the influential artist in heartfelt interviews, Jackson looks anything but ready or his death bed as he tears through the driving beats of 'Billie Jean,' 'Smooth Criminal,' 'Beat It,' 'Wanna Be Startin' Somethin' and 'Thriller.'

Because Ortega has captured rehearsals, we hear Jackson singing every other word on the fast-tempo tracks so he can concentrate on his dance steps. A perfectionist, Jackson occasionally halts the production numbers to emphasize little marks he and his crew need to hit. 'This is why we rehearse,' he repeatedly says, not in anger but with a love for the process. That enthusiasm also shines through as he collaborates with musical director Michael Bearden on a slower arrangement for 'The Way You Make Me Feel.'

The only thing the film lacks is a proper ending. It is too abrupt, but then again so was the death of Jackson himself.

"AMELIA"
GRADE: **

In the 1920's and 30's female pilot Amelia Earhart (played by Hillary Swank) attempted to break several long-distance flight records during a trip across the Atlantic and a journey around the world, a journey from which she never returned. This film puts her life, her loves, and struggles as a female pilot on the big screen.

The film is visually stunning. The studio has obviously spared no expense in telling this tale, and the acting performance put forth by Swank is exactly what you have come to expect from her - she is very convincing, as always.

But the story doesn't quite work for some reason. Some might say that the film is just boring, or that the pacing and directing could have been better. But the truth is more along the lines that the script never really explains why Amelia is willing to take these risks, or why the journeys are so important in the grand scheme of history. It's almost like the producers assume if you are interested in seeing the film you must already know a bit about Earhart, and they miss a great opportunity to teach a new generation about her in depth.

The viewer loses focus, and that's the kiss of death in a movie with a running time of nearly two hours.

If you are a fan of aviation, love the sight of older planes flying overhead, that alone will be worth the price of admission. And if you like romantic movies, then watch the relationship develop between Swank and Richard Gere.

The film correctly portrays Earhart as a woman of great ideals who refused to compromise, all the while recognizing the hoops she had to jump through to make her dreams come true.

"WHERE THE WILD THINGS ARE"
GRADE: ****

Just like the classic children's book it is based on, "Where the Wild Things Are" is a fantastic exploration into childhood imagination, and well-worth the effort put into creating it.

Creating a movie version of a children's classic that has very little text and is heavy with illustrations that still manages to capture the spirit of the writing isn't easy. But director Spike Jonze and co-writer David Eggers have done just that, expertly bringing author Maurice Sendak's world to life.

It is a world created by the emotions of a young boy who feels ignored, alone and persecuted. The creatures he meets in his land, the 'Wild Things' of the title and the favorite part of the book for most, are brought to life through the artistry of the designers at the

The Masquers have taken the characters from their Elizabethan mansion and put them in an intricate set based on an industrial playground complete with a functioning trampoline and a see-saw. In addition, the makeup and costumes are highly creative and original.

Senior Mark McGillivray plays the role of Harpagon, the old man, while his children, Elise and Cleante are played by senior Libby Webster and sophomore Billy Goldstein. The lovers are played by senior Toby March and Junior Erin Brooks.

Everything in the show is entirely student designed and built, as a cutting of it will be brought to the Massachusetts Drama Guild One-Act Festival for the preliminary round on February 27, 2010.

Johnson & Rohan offers competitive auto pricing

On April 1, 2008, Massachusetts entered a new era of "managed competition" for auto insurance. Massachusetts had been a very sick auto insurance state. The number of companies writing personal auto insurance dwindled from 35, in the early 1990's, down to only 19 prior to deregulation. Since competition, at least, ten companies have entered the state and consumers have enjoyed a statewide average 8.2% rate reduction.

Johnson & Rohan Insurance is a local, independent insurance agency in Lynnfield that has taken advantage of the new, managed competition auto insurance landscape. "Right now, in Massachusetts, auto insurance is like the Wild West.

There has never been a better time to shop & package your auto and home insurances," said Kevin Johnson. "We rate our clients with seven different companies to find them the best discount and insurance programs."

Your local, independent agent should find you the best rates available and advocate for you at claim time. Customer satisfaction is the key to your independent agent's livelihood. So, serving you is their number one concern.

Johnson & Rohan Insurance offers free, no obligation insurance reviews. Call them at: 781-224-0909, or stop by at: 50 Salem Street in Lynnfield, or visit them on the web: JohnsonandRohan.com.

Jim Henson Company, though CGI was used mostly to animate the creatures' facial expressions, so their interactions with young Max come across in a much more realistic manner.

"Where the Wild Things Are" contains hints of danger and a few scary moments, and the overall message of the film, which touches upon how difficult and scary childhood can be for some, especially those kids who feel 'different' from others, may be lost on the youngest of kids.

Young Max Records makes his debut as the sensitive Max who learns that being the head of a family is no easy chore.

The film features the vocal talents of longstanding actors who who portray his new friends: James Gandolfini as the sensitive Carol, Lauren Ambrose as KW, Chris Cooper as Douglas, Catherine O'Hara as Judith, Forest Whitaker as Ira and Paul Dano as Alexander.

The film is a bit sad and melancholy, but not too much so, and those moments pass quickly without bogging the overall presentation down.

"Where the Wild Things Are," like the book it's based on, is an instant classic, a movie that you can watch again and again. It will likely generate conversations between parents and kids long after the film has ended.

FLYING HIGH AND DOWN TO EARTH

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

TALK OF THE TOWN (READING)

"The results of the 2009 Reading Youth Risk Behavior Survey were presented to the town at a ... School Committee meeting, and as a whole the numbers paint an interesting picture of the types of risks that are present and available to youths in town," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The real scrutiny will come sometime early next year when the statewide results are issued, and Reading residents can compare themselves as a community to students across Massachusetts."

"While an initial overview of the survey results were presented ..., here is a closer look at the results in all categories, as they pertain to students at Reading Memorial High School ...

"The Youth Risk Behavior Survey (YRBS) monitors priority health risk behaviors that contribute to the leading causes of death, disability and social problems among youth. The 2009 Reading YRBS was conducted in January of 2009 and administered to a total of 1,021 students in 9th - 12th grades. This represents an 84% response rate."

"The 2009 Reading High School YRBS Survey tool was adapted from the 2007 Massachusetts Department of Education (DOE) Youth Risk Behavior Survey and the 2007 and 2009 Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Youth Risk Behavior Survey. Teachers administering the survey were instructed to remind students of the importance and value of the data and to answer as honestly as possible. Instructions were read aloud, affirming that the survey was voluntary and anonymous. Of the total surveys distributed, eight surveys were deleted from the analysis since fewer than twenty questions were answered, consistent with the state's criteria for omitting surveys. Twelve students responded to 'other' or 'ungraded' question therefore their surveys were omitted. Fifty-nine students did not complete the height and weight sections, or filled in responses that were deleted as outliers (outside the expected normal range). Percentages reported are of the total students responding to the question unless otherwise noted ..."

GREEN GROWTH (TEWKSBURY)

"The Town of Tewksbury was one of more than 100 cities and towns to have qualified to receive free technical assistance as they strive to qualify for up to $10 million in grants for municipal energy efficiency and renewable power projects under the Patrick-Murray Administration's Green Communities program," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"Using proceeds from the auction of carbon allowances under the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (RGGI), the Green Communities Division in the Executive Office of Energy and Environmental Affairs Department of Energy Resources (DOER) will provide 103 cities and towns with $1.2 million in private energy consulting services. Consultants overseen by DOER will work with local officials to develop action plans for meeting all five criteria required for designation as 'Green Communities.' Municipalities that earn this status will then be eligible for Green Communities grants totaling up to $10 million statewide annually (also funded with RGGI auction proceeds) for locally based clean energy projects..."

"The Board of Selectmen formed the Tewksbury Green Committee on May 19, 2009 and the Committee held its organizational meeting on June 24, 2009. Members of the Committee include: Anne Marie Stronach, Robert Fowler, Joseph Cary, James Duffy, Jack Quinn, Marc Ginsburg, and Thomas Cooke. Sal Tornare serves as the alternate Planning Board representative. The Tewksbury Green Committee has been established to explore energy conservation and renewable/alternative energy generation strategies for the Town, its residents and commercial base. The Committee will assess the Town's baseline energy consumption, develop achievable targets for energy conservation, explore zoning changes to allow for renewable/alternative energy generation across all types of land use, consider environmentally sustainable building and site standards for all classes of buildings, serve as a local advisor for federal and state energy related grant programs and develop a community outreach program ...

"The Committee looks forward to providing cost saving measures for the Town, its residents and businesses while protecting the environment."

CONES AHEAD (STONEHAM)

"The town's Board of Selectmen ... rescinded a 2007

site plan condition that required the owners of Dairy Dome to reconfigure its parking layout as part of an expansion to a full-service eatery," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"In a 4-to-1 vote, with Selectman Paul Rotondi representing the lone dissenter, the town officials allowed proprietors Thomas and Diane Mayo to revert back to its original parking layout, instead of altering the configuration so that vehicles pulled into the property from Middle Street."

"According to Rotondi, he couldn't vote in favor of lifting the site plan requirement without restarting the process, as he considered the change to be a significant amendment to the town's approval of the Dairy Dome expansion in 2007.

"What we're being asked to do tonight is to make a significant change in a site plan that this board, the Planning Board, and everybody else reviewed," said Rotondi, who pointed out that department heads hadn't even been given the opportunity to review the petitioners' newest proposal and traffic study.

"If it's a significant change, then what we're discussing tonight shouldn't be discussed until another site plan is presented," the Selectman furthered. "I'm not saying whether I'm for or against this. I'm saying the process is flawed..."

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY

TRIVIA: Who was the first Boston Patriots quarterback to complete a pass in a regular season game? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

Austin Preparatory School senior SHAWN LEAHY OF READING is leading the boys soccer team to another successful season as captain this year. Leahy, who is currently in his second year as captain, has competed for Austin for the past seven years. The team has high hopes for the state tournament this year, as they currently hold a 9-3-3 overall record. Leahy is the son of Peter and Jean Leahy of Reading.

UMASS LOWELL'S SAMMY MACY (TEWKSBURY, MA)

earned 2009 Northeast-10 Conference Player of the Year honors, as announced during the tournament banquet held on Friday in Easton, MA.

Macy was joined on the NE-10 All-Conference First Team by senior defender Laura Sullivan (Norwood, MA) and junior forward Katie Enaire (Amesbury, MA), while seniors Ashley Smith (Killingworth, CT) and Molly Clay (Rockport, MA) were named to the All-Conference Second Team.

Macy has started all 20 of the River Hawks' games during the 2009 campaign, which has seen them play to a 16-4 record so far and earn a trip to the Northeast-10 semifinal. She led the NE-10 in goals (23), points (53) and points per game (2.65). Taking 134 shots on goal in 20 games, she was drawn to the net and took 55 more chances than her nearest teammate. Clutch for UMass Lowell, she also tallied seven game-winners on the year, ranking her second in the conference. She was also named NE-10 Player of the Week twice during the regular season.

Sullivan, a co-captain, has been a leader for UMass Lowell on and off the field. She has started all 20 games for the River Hawks, playing nearly every minute of every game, guarding the backfield. She added one assist on the year, made a defensive save and helped anchor the River Hawks' defense that allowed just 1.50 goals per game, third in the conference.

Also on first team was Macy's scoring partner, Enaire. She also started every game for UMass Lowell and was close behind Macy with 20 goals and six assists on the year for 46 points. Enaire ranks second in the NE-10 in points (46), tied for third in goals (20) and third in goals per game (1.00). Enaire was one of the most consistent offensive producers for the River Hawks and tied a school record with nine points in a single game on Sept. 19 in a 9-1 win at home over Saint Anselm.

Smith, like Sullivan, helped the River Hawks' impressive backfield as a veteran in the defensive corps and started all 20 games for UMass Lowell. She made one defensive save on the year and added a career-best four assists on the year. She also earned the NE-10's inaugural Defensive Player of the Week honor at the start of the 2009 season.

Clay, a consistent and reliable midfielder, started every game for the River Hawks and added five goals and three assists for 13 points on the year. She is a skilled, poised and confident player that is a catalyst for many of UMass Lowell's offensive drives.

The #3 seed River Hawks will play #2 Bentley on Saturday at 2:00 p.m. at Stonehill's W.B. Mason Stadium for the 2009 Northeast-10 Conference Tournament Semifinal and their chance to advance to the championship game for the seventh consecutive year.

•Need some help with this week's question? His initials are B.S.

•Ryan Richards, a senior from Holden, MA, led three UMass Lowell men's soccer players named to the Northeast-10 All-Conference Teams, released Friday afternoon.

The honor marked the third straight year that Richards was cited as he joined senior Jhony Valencia (Lowell, MA) and JUNIOR STEPHEN POTCHER (WILMINGTON, MA) on the Third Team.

UMass Lowell (4-12-0 overall, 3-10-0 NE-10) capped a trying season Wednesday night with a 0-2 loss at Merrimack. Seven of the River Hawks losses were by a single goal.

Richards, named to the Second Team in 2007 and 2008, posted a 1.72 goals against average this season and added two more shutouts to increase his career mark of 21 - second on UMass Lowell's all-time list.

Valencia also left his mark in the record books as he dished out six assists this season to increase his career total to 23, currently third on the program's all-time list.

Despite a leg injury which sidelined him for three matches, Potcher led the River Hawks in scoring with six goals and one assist, including one of each in UMass Lowell's 3-2 triumph over defending NCAA finalist Dowling in the season opener.

•LYNNFIELD NATIVE RYAN WILLIAMS, a former UMass Lowell pitcher, was named to the River Hawks' baseball staff Tuesday, announced head coach Ken Harrington.

Williams, who played under Harrington at Saint Anselm and one year as a River Hawk, replaces Mike Marron as the staff's pitching coach.

"Ryan is a quality hire because he brings a presence and knowledge to our pitching staff," said Harrington. "He also brings experience in this league that you can't measure. He was an All-American at Saint Anselm and his competitive nature on the mound will carry over to our pitchers."

UMass Lowell rode an infusion of young talent last season to a 25-20 record (15-15 in the Northeast-10 Conference, sixth), which included a dominating 12-3 campaign at home.

Highlights included a first round victory over Southern Connecticut in the Northeast-10 playoffs and hurler Jack Leathersich (Beverly, MA) claiming both NEIBA All-Star and Northeast-10 Freshman Pitcher of the Year honors. Over the summer, Leathersich was named the top prospect in the Valley Baseball League by PG Cross Checker.

"Coach Harrington and I have had a long relationship," said Williams. "When he called me to see if I was interested, it did not take me very long to see the opportunity—I jumped right in."

"The dynamic of our pitching staff is by far the best in the [NE-10]. They work very hard and they've been around the game before. There are also some young guys like Jack and Dallas Nunes (Easton, MA) who've already made a name for themselves in the league. I don't think there is any other staff in the conference that works harder than these guys."

Williams inherits a UMass Lowell pitching staff that was stellar in 2009, finishing with a 3.14 ERA which ranked second in the NE-10. The River Hawks threw eight shutouts and held opponents to a paltry .236 batting average.

"These guys have been taught what it takes to be dedicated," said Williams. "This year, one of the things I want to instill in them is to finish everything they do. We talk about how finishing everything you do will correlate into finishing the ninth inning when you need it."

Williams has spent the past two seasons pitching professionally. In 2008 he was a member of the Brockton Rox of the Can Am League and in 2007 he signed with the St. Joseph Blacksnakes in the American Association.

A former Northeast-10 standout, Williams toed the rubber at UMass Lowell for his senior season. Prior to that, he pitched for Saint Anselm for three seasons. In 2006, Williams was named to the ABCA/Rawlings All-America Third Team, First-Team All-Region, First-Team All-Conference and was crowned the NE-10 Pitcher of the Year. In that season, he led the conference in four categories: ERA (1.03), innings pitched (105.0), strikeouts (95, tied) and strikeouts looking (36).

Williams earned a bachelor's degree in business from Saint Anselm in 2007.

A native of Lynnfield, Williams attended St. John's Prep high school where, in addition to baseball, he competed in football and indoor track and field. He currently resides in Medford.

Janice Sullivan earns prestigious designation to help homeowners in danger of foreclosure

Janice Sullivan of RE/MAX Heritage has earned the prestigious Certified Distressed Property Expert® (CDPE) designation, having completed extensive training in foreclosure avoidance, with a particular emphasis on short sales. At a time when millions of homeowners are struggling with the possibility of foreclosure, the skills and education accumulated by Sullivan will help benefit area residents.

Short sales allow the distressed homeowner to repay the mortgage at the price that the home sells for, even if it is lower than what is owed on the property. With plummeting property values, this can save many people from foreclosure and even bankruptcy. More and more lenders are willing to consider short sales because they are much less costly than foreclosures. Today, more than 13 percent of homeowners are delinquent on their mortgage or in the foreclosure process.

"The CDPE designation and knowledge will be invaluable as I work with homeowners and lenders on complicated short sales," said Sullivan. "It is rewarding for me to be an advocate for families and help save their homes from foreclosure."

"The CDPE designation is one of the most important and timely educational products I have seen in over 40 years in the real estate business," said Dave Liniger, RE/MAX Chairman and Co-founder. "I will do whatever it takes to get as many agents as possible through this course so they can help homeowners, the economy and our country."

This week's Sampler: The Ambrose

Attractive Ambrose is open and spacious

Looking at the Ambrose, there's plenty to enjoy. The bold brick veneer columns that accent the front façade of this traditional home are trimmed by soldier courses of raised brick. Gridded window uppers add visual interest to the expanses of glass, and a wavy ornamental railing highlights the front porch.

Inside, the mid-sized single-level floor plan provides an assortment of living spaces that enable contemporary family to both share time and find solitude. Double doors on the right of the vaulted entry lead into a vaulted media room/study that could also be used as a home office. An arched opening on the left goes to the secondary bedrooms and main bathroom.

Continuing through the vaulted entry, you pass a coat closet on the left, and the kitchen's arched opening on the right. Then the space in front of you opens out into a bright and expansive great room. A mess-free gas fire-place nestles into the left rear corner, and windows sparkle across most of the rear.

Standing in the kitchen, you can converse with people in the great room and dining room, while taking in outdoor scenes as well. The raised eating bar that divides the kitchen from these two linked rooms also serves to hide the inevitable clutter of a well-used kitchen. A roomy pantry fills one corner, and counters wrap around parts of all four sides. Just around the corner is a large pass-through utility room with a direct connection to the three-car garage.

Double doors open into the Ambrose's owners' suite, where a coffered ceiling adds to the modestly elegant ambiance. The suite has direct patio access, a deep walk-in closet, and a deluxe bathroom with a spa tub, oversized shower, dual vanity, and private toilet.
